ROTARIANS PLAN BIG RECEPTION TO HON. JAMES J. DAVIS

Secretary of Labor Will Give Public Address on Timely Subject in Memorial Auditorium Under Auspices of Lowell Rotary Club

HON. JAMES J. DAVIS

Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of labor and the first member of the cabinet of a president of the United States to be the guest of Lowell citizens in a generation, is assured of a memorable reception when he comes to this city next Monday afternoon to give a public address in Memorial Auditorium under the auspices of the Lowell Rotary club.

Although the Rotarians are directly responsible for extending the invitation to Mr. Davis to come to Lowell and speak, the club members are remaining in the far background and have undertaken to make this event a city-wide affair with all the people of the city and surrounding towns, too, on the monster reception committee, so to speak.

That the Davis visit will be a notable one from many viewpoints, goes without saying. Immense interest has already been stimulated by the formal announcement of the Rotarians reception committee that the secretary of labor and gladly accepted an earnest invitation to visit Lowell and address the people of the city and county.

Secretary Davis will arrive in Lowell

MAYOR DONOVAN VETOES ORDER FOR WIDENING HALL AND AIKEN STREETS

Declaring it is his opinion that the order to expend $30,000 for the widening of Hall and Aiken streets is not justified and is entirely out of proportion to the results sought to be secured, Mayor John J. Donovan today vetoed the order and returned it to the city council by filing it with the city clerk.

Although the mayor has returned the order without his signature, his veto cannot be considered opposition to the elimination of the dangerous corner caused by the intersection of these two streets, for in the letter to the council filed with the unsigned order, His Honor says he will be inclined to look with favor upon the project when a plan more feasible and economical has been devised. He recommends the appointment of a special committee to study the situation and report back to the mayor and council

MAYOR NAMES COMMISSIONER

J. Omer Allard Appointed to Election Commission
For 4-Year Term

Present Clerk of Board Has Served Continuously for Eleven Years

Mayor John J. Donovan today appointed J. Omer Allard, a member of the election commission for a term of four years, beginning April 1 and expiring on that date in 1927.

Mr. Allard succeeds himself on the board and now is completing 14 years of continuous service, first being appointed a registrator of voters in 1907 by Mayor Frederick W. Farnham to fill out the unexpired term of Albert J. Blazon. For two years Mr. Allard served as chairman of the board of registrars and with the creation of the election commission by legislative act in 1921 he was election clerk, which position he now occupies.

According to law, the mayor's appointment does not call for or require confirmation by the city council, or, in other words, is a direct appointment. Under the law, also, today was the last day on which this appointment could be made for it is specified that such appointments must be made within the months of February or March.

IN CATHOLIC CHURCHES
Impressive Easter Services and Special Music—Good
Friday Observances

Good Friday services in the Catholic churches of the city yesterday consisted of mass of the pre-sanctified in the morning, stations of the cross in the afternoon and the chanting of the tombs and sermons on the Passion of Our Lord in the evening.

This morning, masses were celebrated in all the churches, preceded by the consecration of the new fire, benediction of the paschal candle and the recitation of the prophecies and litany of the saints.

Tomorrow, Easter Sunday, will mark the termination of the Lenten season. This great festival will be observed with impressive and beautiful services and special musical beauties. The sacred eddies will be arrayed in all the splendor suggestive of the joy of the church on this most glorious feast-day of her liturgical year. Sermons on the Resurrection will be preached in all the churches.

Since the question was raised a day or so ago relative to a section of the general laws covering budgets and municipal finance and its possible interpretation to mean that the city council might inaugurate and pass departmental appropriations on its own initiative by a two-thirds vote, thus giving to that body some of the power now delegated to the mayor, the possibilities of action under this section and the results, should it be put to a test, have caused no end of discussion at city hall.

The section under discussion reads as follows:

NOT VERY GOOD WEATHER
FOR SPRING FINERY

Easter Sunday weather will be fair, but decidedly chilly.

The old March 1st, though hitting the long, long trail tonight, is still king of the weather manager's today. It would have been ridiculous for the fellow with the iconic truncheons to have let an Australian cold-storage "spring lamb" put anything across on Leo.

Twenty above was about the average lowast registration on Lowell glasses at 6 a. m.

Lowell citizens were not surprised when they peered out of upper windows and saw the ground all white up again just like a December morn or mornings. No one complained.

That is out of style. Simply a search for the rubbers again, a few extra tablets for the office hours mufflers and mittens and away to the Easter parade.

Fair, but pretty cold, is the weather promised for Easter Sunday by the official forecasters this morning. Not below freezing, but just cold enough to call for overcoats and gloves in the Easter parade.

It can be stated positively that Easter

SIX GERMAN WORKERS KILLED

French Find That Germans

Mine Director Refused to Order Men to Return Parts
—Arrest Followed

BERLIN, March 31 (by the Associated Press).—Six German workers at the Krupp plant in Essen have been killed and 20 injured in a conflict with the French military, says a Central News dispatch from Essen today.

The French engineers found that the Germans, in expectation of the occupation, had taken away parts of the plant machinery. The German mine director was ordered to have these returned. He disclosed any knowledge of the disappearance, insisting they must have been taken by the workers. The mine was placed under arrest.

Several thousand miners employed at this plant went on strike immediately after the troops appeared.

The French announced today that Good Friday had been red letter day in the French-British coal and coke operations in the Rhoen region as more than 4000 tons of coal and 600 tons of coke had been sent out of the Rhoen yesterday by rail and water.

LOCAL MAN NEAR-VICTIM OF WILD-CAT SCHEME

Another stock-selling scheme with advisory easy harvest points east, west, north and south and slightly grazing Lowell, no longer a vaunted field for sellers of cold bricks, by the way, has been given the gentle nothing-doing touch by one or two Lowell citizens who had been cheerfully approached.

The appeals for bank funds were so amorous that said citizens felt it their duty to make inquiries at the Lowell chamber of commerce.

Today the news came out that the special committee of the Lowell organization appointed to watch out for sharks and their agents of the power value stock-boasting realm, has saved another Lowell man from "losing his Cox and became law.

The commissioners admit the language of the act as it relates to their salaries is somewhat confusing, but add that the intent of the legislators was it should be $2,000 each per year.

CHAIN STORES SAID TO BE AFTER NELSON CO.

It is rumored that several large chain store organizations, including the S. S. Kress Co., are planning to bid on the seven stores of the F. E.

Nelson Co., Inc., located in Lowell and other New England cities, at the proposed sale in Boston next month of $250,000 worth of stock in the Nelson stores upon which L. R. Steel Co., Inc., of Buffalo has defaulted in payment.

Buffalo despatch states that John G. Nelson, president, treasurer and general manager of the F. E. Nelson Co., Inc., has been in that city for several days discussing the Nelson situation with the equity receivers of the Steel chain store enterprises. The receivers authorized an immediate survey of the Nelson stores by David M. Lewis of New York.

The Sun was informed today that Mr. Lewis came to Lowell Thursday of this week on his tour of the Nelson stores that have locations not only in this city, but in Concord, N. H., Manchester, N. H., Nashua, Haverhill, Cambridge and Lawrence. The purpose of the visit was to determine whether or not the receivers would be justified in applying to Federal Judge John H. Hazel for authority to issue receivers' certificates to cover the final payment on the Nelson stores.

While in Lowell, Mr. Lewis made no statement as to the results of his survey or future plans.

ANOTHER SHOE MANUFACTURING CONCERN LOCATES HERE

Haverhill Manufacturer Will Do Business in Middlesex Street—New Concern to Be Known as "The Lowell Shoe Company"

The entire third floor and about one-third of the second floor of the Burgess-Lang building on Middlesex street has been leased by a new shoe manufacturing concern for immediate occupancy. Filling operations will start next Monday morning.

Samuel Ornstein of Haverhill, member of the shoe manufacturing concern of Ornstein Brothers, who have a large business now on full-time operation in Haverhill, will be in charge of the new Lowell concern on Middlesex street. His brother, Myer T. Ornstein, will continue in direct supervision of the Haverhill shoe plant, which will be operated as an entirely separate unit from the Lowell business. The Sun was informed this morning.

A report current that the concern coming to Lowell was being removed from Haverhill because of labor troubles, is absolutely untrue. The Sun was told today. The concern to be located in the Burgess-Lang building is a brand new departure and

STATE POLICE AND YEGGMAN IN GUN BATTLE AT SOUTHBORO

SOUTHBORO, March 31.—This town was the scene at 2:30 this morning of a running gun battle between an unknown yeggman and three members of the state police patrol from Framingham headquarters in which the yeggman was killed. Due to a series of breaks in the Southboro Drug Store during the past few weeks, a member of the patrol was stationed for night duty in the store.

ELECTION COMMISSIONERS SAY SALARY MUST BE FIXED AT $2000 PER YEAR

The board of election commissioners, now serving in dual capacity as members of this board and the listing board as well, claim they are entitled to a salary of $2000 per year and retroactive to March 21, the day on which the Lowell listing bill was signed by Governor Cox and became law.

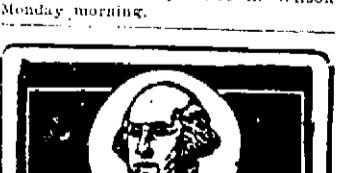

The commissioners admit the language of the act as it relates to their salaries is somewhat confusing, but add that the intent of the legislators

The Looker-on in Lowell

Loaded down with valuable merchandise manufactured in Lowell on a special rush order from a foreign country, a truck became disabled recently between Lowell and Boston, presumably on account of the rough going. After necessary repairs had been made the truck rattled into Boston, only to find that the boat to which the merchandise had been consigned had steamed on its way.

Inasmuch as the consignee was anxious about quick delivery the next best thing to do was to ship the goods by express. This was done. The express bill amounted to approximately $3000.

Greatest Week in Express Since 1920

Charles F. Langley, local agent for the American Railway Express company, says that the week ending Mar. 10 had the largest total for inward and outward express shipments of any since the boom of November, 1920.

There has been a steady increase in express shipments, inward and outward, for several months past. On Friday, March 9, several two-horse wagons, loaded sky-high, carted merchandise to local stores. Local shoe concerns are daily shipping out general loads.

Generally, express shipments are a good barometer of local business conditions.

Parking Space Over Concord River

Down-town parking space for automobiles, which would incidentally be ideal in connection with the Auditorium, could be created, according to the plan of a local man, by bridging over the Concord river on either side of East Merrimack street. The proposition would be for the city to construct such a bridge and make a nominal charge for parking.

On first consideration this seems very desirable, but what about the cost, not only of construction, but of maintenance and repairs? Also, would the law allow it? Furthermore, wouldn't the odors from the river collect under such a bridge, and become stronger than if diffused through the open air?

Fighting Germans Now Working Hero

There are many instances in this country—many right here in Lowell—in which Germans who fought the Allies are working side by side with Americans who shot at them from trenches in France. They have the same stories to tell of how the Americans whistled over their heads, how the "whizz-bangs" made their hair stand on end and so on. Former enemies these Germans and Americans talk over the war as though they were discussing a snow-ball fight. After all, even though the Germans did lose the war, one must admire their courage in mingling so freely among former enemies, whether Belgian, French or Americans.

Advertising As An Uplifting Force

N. W. Ayer & Son, one of the big, best advertising agencies of the country, reports the following from one of its clients: "The best thing about our advertising is that it gives us something to live up to. It has made us work harder than we intended. Even the boys in the plant are keener since we are advertising their workmanship for the whole world to see."

Local manufacturers of nationally distributed products who conduct national advertising campaigns, seem to be more progressive than those who don't—at least there seems to be more of a progressive, enthusiastic spirit about them.

And as for retailers—if they don't live up to their advertising they soon are punished by decreasing business. Good advertising will create prestige, poor advertising will detract. Advertisers are, therefore, careful not to set up standards which they cannot live up to. Every precaution is taken by The Sun to insure its readers that advertisers who use its columns can back up their advertising.

Telephone Users Unobtrusive

How many of us have telephones and yet never noticed on the front cover of the telephone book this statement: "The state department of public utilities recommends that two inmates should be the limit of use of a party line station because others may wish to use the line, and that immediate right of way should be given for emergency calls. The company asks that patrons in fairness to others observe this recommendation."

This statement states most of us in the eye every day and yet Manager Lenther of the local telephone exchange has opened a campaign to carry out the five-minute rule. When the rule was mentioned most of us said "never heard of it!" Perhaps it ought to be in red ink, or perhaps conversations ought to be measured as has already been proposed.

Income Taxes Here and Elsewhere

Some of us may grumble about the taxes we must pay to the government in this country, but taxes in some foreign countries would stagger us. A married man supporting children on an income of $5000 pays a $68 tax in the United States, but would have to pay $86 in France, $16 in Canada.

$22 in Germany and $320.75 in Great Britain, say the agents of the bureau of internal revenue. Other taxes: Taking the estimate that there are 1919 Lowell incomes of $5000.00 it would mean that 1919 Lowell people paid in income taxes $10,492.00. From 1919 Lowell people receiving an income of $25,000 the government received $3,774,326.00 in income taxes. Three hundred and twenty-nine Lowell people receiving an income of $60,000 per year paid income taxes amounting to $2,821,504 and 66 Lowell people receiving incomes of $100,000 paid income taxes amounting to $1,955,016. From these figures the total amount paid in income taxes by 3905 Lowell people amounted to $8,710,148.00.

In France the total for the same number of people and the same number of incomes would be $0,670,612.00; in Canada, $9,788,558.00; in Germany, $12,191,421.72; and in Great Britain, $16,550,653.18.

Load of Coal Was Jinxed

One local coal dealer can tell a good story about a car of coal which was en route for about a month because it seemed to be "jinxed." Arriving at Carbondale, Pa., from the mines, the coal was transshipped to another car. Arriving at Mechanicville, N. Y., it was again transshipped to another car because of breakdowns. Upon its arrival in Lowell it was tied up for two days on the tracks here, during which time the dealer learned that children were stealing the coal. Although finding it considerably short in weight, he had it "placed" only to meet more difficulty in his own yard. His men had no sooner begun to unload the car than his unloading equipment broke down, thus entailing another delay and more trouble. The coal was finally delivered to his customers, who as usual thought nothing about the possible difficulty of getting coal to Lowell and felt that their orders should have been filled immediately.

DEATH TOLL NOW EIGHT

W. Z. Siebert Dies as Result of Injuries Received in Train Wreck Yesterday

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The death of W. Z. Siebert of Cincinnati, a student locomotive fireman, today increased the death toll in the wreck of the Southwestern Limited yesterday, to eight.

Three men, all aboard the train, the speed of which was estimated at 70 miles an hour and a woman and her two small children, six passengers of an automobile which the locomotive struck at a grade crossing, were killed instantly.

Robert Henderson, a negro, who was riding "hitch baggage," died in a hospital yesterday.

Eleven injured at hospitals today were reported on the road to recovery.

Railroad officials have not determined whether the train buckled after sudden application of the airbrakes, or if some part of the demolished automobile got under the "pony wheels" of the locomotive, causing it and six of the seven passenger cars to leave the

Among the eleven young men who were arrested in the habit of the Navajo Indians in the chapel of the Sacred Heart, Ft. Monroe, Va., on the feast of St. Joseph, March 19, was Daniel Scanlon of Lowell, to be known in jail as Brother Elmo.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Hyland of NeSmith street announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Leslie Hyland to Mr. Abner H. Hastings of Swampscott. Mr. Hastings was graduated from Harvard in 1917 and served overseas during the war with the 73rd Coast Artillery.

officer and then rushed out when the officer dropped.

Officer Blackett called headquarters and in a few minutes Sergeant O'Connor and Patrolman Squires arrived in an automobile. They picked up the man's trail in the light snow, and following it over the golf links, came upon the man seated on a stone wall beyond the rural cemetery near Plantation road.

When ordered to stand up, the man fired at the police. He was shot in the right side by Officer Blackett, who had a riot gun, and in his gun hand by Officer Squires. With his right hand useless, the bandit shifted his gun to the left and continued to fire. He was shot in the breast by Sergeant O'Connor. The man was picked up and a run made for the office of Dr. Roland H. Newton in Westboro, but he died on the way. The body was taken to a local undertaker's and the district attorney's office notified. An inquest will be held this afternoon.

The Lieutenant of the police patrol says that he does not believe the man is a local party but that he came in on one of the numerous freighters passing through town. He is described as more than six feet tall, about 35 years of age, light complexion, weighing about 155 pounds, and shabbily dressed.

Eleven injured at hospitals today were reported on the road to recovery.

Mitchell Again Questioned in Connection with Keenan Case

Asst. Dist. Atty. Pecora Begins Re-examination of All Persons Concerned in the Still Unsolved Murder of New York Model—Brother of Slain Girl Admits Demanding Job in Department of Justice

NEW YORK, March 31.—John Kearns, wealthy son-in-law of E. T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, who was for nine days known only as "the mysterious Mr. Marshall," again will be questioned by Asst. Dist. Atty. Pecora today, in his re-examination of all persons concerned in the still unsolved murder of Dorothy Keenan.

The wealthy Philadelphian was scheduled to meet Mr. Pecora this afternoon. It was said his personal attorney, John H. Jackson, who was known as "Mr. Wilson," secretary to Mr. Marshall" before the authorities made public the names of the two, also would be re-questioned.

For the first time since the district attorney's investigation began a stenographic report of all questions and answers was made at yesterday's investigation at which Mr. Pecora concerned himself chiefly with cross-questioning members of the slain model's family.

sand acres of land were purchased in July, 1913. Mooseheart was dedicated. Since that time Mooseheart has welcomed to its hospitality and care dependent sons and daughters of deceased members. Sometimes the boys and girls have been doubly orphaned, sometimes the mother is living with the tragedy which is inability to provide for her children. In many instances mothers, too, live in Mooseheart, thus avoiding that essential pain, separation from fatherless children.

It has been said that heart of Moose is boundless in loving sympathy and capacity for unselfish service and that, therefore, there is no limitation as to the number of children received into the Mooseheart family.

Invariably the influences and precepts of that order reflect themselves in the administration of Mooseheart, and the children and widows cared for in that sub-division feel the power of the order as a moral agent and of lessons as divine as eternal truth. The ritualistic ceremony is one of the most beautiful existant and securitism is absolutely unknown in the order while freedom of speech and personal liberty are high points in the Moose creed.

Mooseheart's educational features are well known to be of a highly vocational and practical nature. Twenty-five or so of the most useful crafts in temporary life are taught, including agriculture and there are now more than 700 children being cared for, trained and educated in one or more useful vocations. Religious training is not neglected and the value of honesty and good judgment as primary factors in an upright life are firmly inculcated.

A $24,000,000 Fund

The residential part of Mooseheart resembles a modern village of about 1000 inhabitants and consists of about 50 buildings of modern concrete and fireproof construction, with red tile roofs. There is a central heating and power plant, large modern print shop, a high school building, several industrial shops, a modern farm plant and many dormitories and residences.

Mooseheart today has over 750 orphans which it houses, clothes, feeds and trains. The average age of the children is 9½ years. The average age of graduation is about 18. Some children are taken in their first year and some are even born at Mooseheart. The plant is worth $24,000,000. The improvements cost $600,000 annually. The main-

Blaze of Suspicious Origin in East Side Tenement, New York, Early Today

Total of Nine Persons Have Lost Their Lives in Fires

NEW YORK, March 31.—Two men were burned to death and eight persons seriously injured early today in fire of suspicious origin in an East Side tenement, making a total of nine persons who have lost their lives in fires this week.

Five were burned to death in an apartment fire in East 57th street last Monday and two others were killed yesterday while fighting a blaze in W. 54th street.

Today's blaze in a five-story house in East Seventh street started under a stairway on the ground floor and spread with such rapidity that tenants in the upper floors found their escape by stairways barred. Fire officials expressed the belief that the fire had been set.

A dozen men, women and children were carried down ladders.

CALL BOMB STORY "BUNK"

Report That Ex-Evangelist Could Solve Wall St. Explosion Not Believed

Chief Burns Comments on Report of Confession Made by Wilson at Los Angeles

NEW YORK, March 31.—The report from Los Angeles last night that Herbert Wilson, a former evangelist convicted of murder and charged with robbery had told the police he could solve the Wall street bomb explosion mystery today was received differently in different quarters.

"Bunk," pronounced Chief William J. Burns, of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, when the report was shown to him at Miami, Fla.

"Interesting, if true," commented officials of the Burns detective agency here.

"Bunk," echoed William J. Flynn, former chief of the department of justice, where the despatches were read to him here.

The report of Wilson's confession emanated with the Los Angeles Times, which published a story today quoting Wilson as having confessed to county of a man arrested in Warsaw as that he made the bomb himself and sold it to a man who has been charged with the guilty knowledge of the crime, but never prosecuted.

He said he recognized the photograph of a man arrested in Warsaw as that of Max Wolfe, an individual to whom he said he sold the bomb. There was a man arrested in Warsaw and charged with setting off the bomb, but according to Allen O. Myers, the agent who made the arrest, he was never known as Max Wolfe. The man he trailed was Wolfe Lindenfeld, alias William Lind, who was quoted once as having confessed to setting off the bomb but who later insisted that he made no such admission and was innocent.

It was pointed out that if he does not necessarily follow that appointment to the Sacred College will be made.

Word that the Vatican contemplated the elevation to a cardinalate of Archbishop Itanna of California was brought to New York on March 24 by Vance Thompson, former intermediary between the American embassy at Rome and the Vatican. Mr. Thompson, who said that his information on the subject was positive, also asserted that the red hat was to be given to Padre Genoehl, former apostolic delegate to Poland and the Ukraine.

NOTICE!

With the advent of warmer weather and improved railroad transportation, we feel that we are in a position to give your coal requirements prompt and efficient attention.

Many things have conspired to make the past winter one to be long remembered. With only 60% of the usual amount of coal required to take care of your needs, we have been obliged to turn away many desirable customers whom we would have been pleased to serve. It has been the most strenuous winter we have encountered in the past thirty years' business. No doubt much unsatisfactory coal has been delivered, there may have been many discourtesies, many deliveries may have been delayed by causes entirely beyond our control; in fact, we may have given very unsatisfactory service. This we regret.

However, all cases of sickness or actual suffering called to our attention, received as prompt a response as possible. Owing to unprecedeted traveling in the city streets, deliveries were slow and expensive. Our men worked early and late, our horses were exhausted, and our entire equipment shattered by the strenuous conditions.

To all who at times felt they were treated discourteously, we apologize sincerely.

If you feel we actually accomplished something to your benefit, we respectfully solicit your further patronage.

THE EASTER FESTIVAL

Tomorrow, Easter day, commemorates the resurrection of Christ from the dead. It is the crowning event in the establishment of Christ's kingdom on earth. He said: "Destroy this temple and I will build it up in three days." In that the Savior proved His divine power as He had done on many occasions during His stay on earth by the miracles He worked.

At this time the Christian world rejoices in the spiritual triumph of redemption consummated in the Risen Christ. Well may the churches of Christendom ring with alleluias. The promised Redeemer has come and has commissioned His disciples to "go teach all nations" and to continue spreading His gospel to the end of time.

The lessons of Easter are the most joyous of the Christian year and now after the penitential season of Lent, after the severity of the winter, not only the hearts of men but all Nature seems to take on a spirit of reverycence and rejuvenation. It is in this sense that the observance of Easter may be made a source of spiritual uplift and inspiration for those who can contemplate its meaning in time and eternity and who through the power of faith can realize its full import and effect in the work of man's redemption. So far has the influence of this festival swayed Christian peoples, that if the believer has but the slightest trace of practical religion left, he shows it by attendance at church on Easter Sunday. It is estimated that fully 65,000,000 people will attend church in the United States tomorrow. That will leave 45,000,000 unaccounted for. The latter fail to see or to accept the gospel of the Risen Christ, and hence they fail to benefit by the spiritual inspiration that comes to devout worshippers in the celebration of an event that may be regarded as the capstone of the arch on which rests practically all the truths and teachings of Christianity.

HEAR SECRETARY DAVIS

The Rotary club will have as a speaker at the Auditorium next Monday afternoon Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of the department of labor at Washington. The Rotarians, realizing that Mr. Davis is a great friend of labor, have endeavored to give the working people of Lowell an opportunity to hear him by delaying his address until 5:15 o'clock. That will give the mill operatives and others an opportunity to go there before going to their homes. They need not hesitate to go in their working clothes as Mr. Davis has quite as much respect for the man whose face is grimed with the dust of the machine shop or the mill as for the one cleanly shaven and dressed in the height of fashion.

It is to be hoped that the laboring people of this city will make an effort to be present and hear the important message that Mr. Davis is sure to deliver. He is reported to be a good speaker and he is an authority on all the industrial issues before the country today. He has already proposed a plan for maintaining industrial peace, which if given a fair trial would go far to secure that very desirable end.

The meeting will be free to the public and every facility will be offered to those who attend to get the best seats available. But for the fact that Mr. Davis will have to take the 7:30 o'clock train from Boston for Washington, his lecture would be delivered in the evening. The Rotarians have done the best they could to give the working people of Lowell an opportunity to hear Mr. Davis and it is hoped that the hall will be crowded when he comes upon the platform to deliver his address. He will not have time to speak more than half an hour so that it is desirable that all who wish to hear him will reach the Auditorium at 5:15 if possible.

RADIO

Patents on 200 radio devices, invented by John Hays Hammond, Jr., are sold to the Radio Corporation and the big telephone company.

One of them is said to be a device that eliminates static interference and the "butting in" of Morse code on wireless telephone circuits. This latter will disappear, satan.

When 200 new radio patents change hands, you wonder how long it will be until present radio devices will be obsolete. All will change. Once the wireless bug used coders and decoders. How many radio fans now know what the words even mean?

Radio concerts, broadcast free, are cutting down the sale of sheet music and phonograph records. This reduces the revenue formerly enjoyed by music composers. So they organize, threaten to sue broadcasting stations that use their copyrighted music without paying for it.

THE PACIFIC MILLS' MOVE

A good many citizens down in Lawrence seem to think that the Pacific mills, by transferring 32,000 spindles from its Lawrence plant to the south, is starting not only to reduce its Lawrence output, but ultimately to remove the remainder of the plant's spindles, now numbering 18,000 in all, to southern quarters. While the Pacific's latest move looks a little ominous, so far as further expansions in the down-river city are concerned, there are no chances of Lawrence losing the print works plant of the Pacific corporation right away. The loss of 32,000 spindles means a reduction by one-sixth in Lawrence.

Most of the machinery to be shipped south, however—and this should be remembered—was installed during the war boom days and occupies buildings of the former Atlantic plant acquired some years ago by the Pacific. All of these spindles have been producing, moreover, until a short time ago, when, because of the removal of the 32,000 spindles, others will be transferred to the worsted department and the rest remain "in stock." This "southern move," then, on the part of the Pacific is not quite so serious as was first thought when the formal announcement was made. The only thing to be regretted, of course, is that the expansion planned is to be made in the south instead of in Lawrence, and it is to be made with funds accumulated in the city of Lawrence.

GAMBLING IN SUGAR

Representative Cole of Iowa is in favor of calling an extra session of congress to enact laws to prevent gambling in sugar and other staple products. His aim appears to be to get after and punish the sugar predators. But if the sugar gamblers are to be brought to book and reprimanded by Uncle Sam, how about other predators in the daily-life commodities and necessities? Is sugar the only world food staple in which pirates gamble and wield the sceptre of tyrannical power over the struggling majority helpless to save themselves?

Representative Cole believes the situation on sugar and other staple products to be actually critical and containing many unforeseen possibilities.

If this early the trucks have damaged the roads, what would be the result after the frost is out of the ground? It is admitted that to drive trucks tires that will cause hardships to the American people if the price gambles are not called to a halt forthwith. The Iowa statesman declared that the cost of an extra session of congress to provide laws which will protect the public, would be nothing compared to the $10,000,000 taken from sugar consumers with every cent increase in price. He now urges the United States chamber of commerce to take cognizance of the grave "national issue."

It certainly seems as if the "big business interests" of the country at large ought to be powerful enough to stop such unconscionable manipulations in the prices of food products. The present high price of sugar, with a wealth of reserve supplies on hand, emphasizes that need.

FEDERAL RESERVE RUMORS

Members of the Federal Reserve board, meeting in conjunction with the governors of the twelve reserve banks in semi-annual conference in Washington, took steps to curb the flood of rumors concerning possible changes in the board's policies and reports of contemplated increases in rediscount rates by the banks.

Scores of telegraphic inquiries concerning the widely circulated reports are being answered by the stereotyped statement that "all rumors with respect to its intentions or actions in regard to changes in policies are without foundation in fact at the present time."

Inquirers are invited to supply the board with information regarding the sources of the rumors, adding in substance that it will not waste its time in denying "idle rumors."

Though the board's reply to the rumors is not very emphatic and makes no actual denial that possible future changes in rediscount rates may be contemplated, it is safe to say that there will be nothing radical done if the Federal Reserve executives do anything at all toward undertaking a new policy in respect to the present credit situation.

LODGE MAY OBJECT

It is already predicted by those who should know that Senator Lodge will ultimately vote to reject President Harding's proposition for American participation in the stabilization of Europe. The Boston Transcript, which is a fervent supporter of Mr. Lodge, is hostile to President Harding's recommendation with regard to the International court. Several other important newspapers in this state, following the cue of the Transcript, are openly antagonistic to the president's plan for giving official recognition to the tribunal. To these may be added the New York Herald and other republican journals of considerable influence. The republican senate never seemed to accept the president's leadership with much confidence. Leader Moses and Brandegee have been rather restive under the leadership of their former associate whom they regarded as one of the senatorial meddlerites.

PIGS IS PIGS

The selectmen of Dracut, who also act as members of the town board of health, are determined to eliminate certain alleged "pig nuisances" reported in certain sections of the town of the Indian trails. The annual report of the selectmen, just issued, states that the health officials have investigated complaints of various natures during the past season and have corrected them so far as they were able. They also call the townsmen's attention once more, however, to the nuisance of keeping pigs in thickly settled community sections of Dracut.

Families are justified in making complaints regarding such cases where nuisances actually exist, the selectmen report, and the annual report and recommendations put it clearly in the following words:

"Remember that our main revenue from taxation comes from real estate owners, not from pigs. We shall follow up this pig nuisance during the coming year more than ever before. Don't hesitate to make a complaint if there is a nuisance near your home."

QUESTION OF LAW

One of the councilors, it seems, has dug up a provision of the general laws under which he thinks the council will be able to pass supplementary budgets over the mayor's head. We really did not suppose that any member of the council was so stubbornly opposed to the mayor's policy of retrenchment, if by a two-thirds vote in such a case the council can pass supplementary budgets not favored by the mayor, the purpose of the charter would thus be defeated.

We do not believe that any legal loophole can be found to justify a policy contrary to the plain provisions of the city charter.

BULLFIGHT

Jacinto Benavente, not a cigar, but the name of the Spanish author who has written and staged 80 plays, visits America. He says our blood-and-thunder movies and stage melodramas are "intellectual dullights."

Think it over. Maybe we have been too harsh with the cruel sport of the Spaniards. Mental cruelty is as evil as was first thought when the formal announcement was made. The only thing to be regretted, of course, is that the expansion planned is to be made in the south instead of in Lawrence.

Treatments of influenza meningitis by two women scientists in New York, who used a new serum taken from an immunized horse into which there had been injected Pfeiffer bacilli, have resulted in absolute cures in cases that had been given up as hopeless.

Where the new serum was not used, death resulted. If the discovery on the part of one Dr. Josephine New and Dr. Olga Povitsky is really something that will stand investigation and prove by further experimentation, the names of the two women scientists will be honored in the years to come.

GAMBLING IN SUGAR

Representative Cole of Iowa is in favor of calling an extra session of congress to enact laws to prevent gambling in sugar and other staple products. His aim appears to be to get after and punish the sugar predators. But if the sugar gamblers are to be brought to book and reprimanded by Uncle Sam, how about other predators in the daily-life commodities and necessities? Is sugar the only world food staple in which pirates gamble and wield the sceptre of tyrannical power over the struggling majority helpless to save themselves?

Representative Cole believes the situation on sugar and other staple products to be actually critical and containing many unforeseen possibilities.

SEEN AND HEARD

The father of English literature, Chaucer, spelled as he pleased, just like a stenographer.

Best acting in the movies is done by the man who smiles as you squeeze past on his pat corn.

John Howard Payne was lucky. John never heard a saxophone moaning his "Home Sweet Home."

A Thought

These are the signs of a wise man: to reprove nobody, to praise nobody, to blame nobody, nor even to speak of himself or his own merits.—Epictetus.

The Biennial Sale

Though she had more money than she knew how to spend, she was not averse to anything in the nature of a bargain. "I always buy my chrysanthemums," said the saleswoman, "at the lowest price. We are only able to do it because this is our biennial clearance sale." "Then I'll take two pairs of them," she said grandly; "and by the way, how often do you hold your biennial sale, as you call it?"

Permanent Blush

Grandma having arrived for her annual visit to the city had bluebells, the flower of the family, on the carpet. The young lady was uneasy, but the old dame had to go along through with that skirt." The good old lady had cause to breathe. "Now, grandma," it's always the same, she'd say, "you're blushing again." "I'm not," she'd say, "but I'm blushing again." "You're blushing again," she'd say, "but I'm not." "I'm not," she'd say, "but I'm blushing again."

It Meant All Right

Father was telling of a quarrel between two men in which he had interceded. One had swung a shovel about him, "I'll knock your brains out!" "I was at this moment so exasperated, I stepped between them. Little Johnnie had been listening, round-eyed with excitement, very angry at the idea of anybody daring to threaten his daddy. Now he burst out: "He couldn't knock any brains out of you, could he, father?"

Read the Book, Anyway

A certain whist player imagined himself an authority on the game. After baring his friends with verbal comments, suggestions and advice upon the methods of play, he at last wrote and published a book on the game. One copy was sold a champion whist player for his out-of-pocket expenses. A week later the following letter arrived: "My Dear Sir—Your favor of the 1st inst. last accompanied by your book, was duly received. I have read it very carefully. It seems a very good game, but I don't think it's as good as whilst. Sincerely yours,"

The Secretary's Advice

The club, here rushed angrily into the secretary's office, sputtering and giving vent to excited and incoherent exclamations. "I've been grossly insulted!" he shouted, when he had stopped. "I've been grossly insulted!" he shouted, when he had stopped. "How so?" asked the secretary, who had heard such complaints before. "Just during lunch, that young Dawson drawled: 'Look here! I'll give you $100 if you'll resign from this club!' All the members heard him. Now, what the heck do we do about it?" Without the least hesitation came the reply from the secretary: "Hold on for a better offer."

Ring Told the Story

At the annual church bazaar one young lady was making a considerable amount of money as a palmist. To one of her girl clients she said: "I see by your hand you are going to be married." "How can I be married?" asked the astonished girl. "Auntie," she said, "you are a diviner. I see you are going to be married to a man named Gibson." "It's perfectly amazing," gasped the girl. "Surely the lines on my hand cannot tell you the future," she said, "but who said anything about lines?" interrupted the palmist scornfully. "You are worrying the engagement ring which I returned to Mr. Gibson three weeks ago."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The Lowell Fish and Game association, ever actively looking out for this vicinity in matters of clean sportsmanship of the outdoor variety, has started a campaign for new members that is going along in promising fashion under the energetic direction of Secretary Willis S. Holt. Invitations are now going out for the tenth anniversary celebration in Old Fellows Hall, next Tuesday evening, April 3. This will be the biggest rally of the present season, and there will be interesting matters "on the table" for discussion, after the annual election of officers. I am informed there will be no annual banquet served, but cigars are on the way for free distribution to all comers Tuesday evening.

Mettemich st. from city hall to the Lowell Corporation hospital, was reported all cleaned up, Friday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock, when the last load of thick ice and snow blocks was removed in dump carts and taken away by the city workmen. Thus ends one of our longest, hardest, thickest, and longest required many days of labor and the removal of many hundreds of carts loads of snow and ice to make the thoroughfares passably presentable for all kinds of traffic. There was a small pile of congealed debris left on the hospital side of the street after the city workmen went away, but two boys armed with steel-pointed shovels cut into it Friday morning and threw it over the pavements and the car tracks. In a couple of hours, and car tracks, it wasn't long before the winter "cleavings" were crushed and scattered, however, for every passing automobile spoiled the bunched formation and ground the pieces of ice into small pieces.

I am informed that the water conditions at Commonwealth Falls just above Nashua, are similar to those reported in this vicinity above and below the big dam. Residents of the Nashua territory feared freshets, but are getting the surprise of their lives by the low depth of the Merrimack thus far. Some say that the river's lowering at this season presages a dry year. We'll have to see the Merrimack dry up, with all that sewage left in the bed to foment and distribute odors during a hot day in July or August.

Willard Now Training For Floyd Johnson

LOG CABIN COTTAGE, NEAR THE ORIGINAL HOME OF JESSE WILLARD, EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., WHERE JESS WILLARD IS TRAINING FOR HIS COMING FIGHT WITH FLOYD JOHNSON. JESS WILLARD, JOHN EDMIRE, HOTEL MAN, AND RAY ARCHER, MANAGER OF WILLARD

BY NEA Service
EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., March 31.—Jess Willard's training camp has become a big of activity, with the former champ preparing for his first boxing match preparing for his first boxing match in three years. He is having a hard time, however, in the hope of stretching Floyd Johnson on the canvas in Madison Square Garden when they meet May 12.

Each day finds big Jess up early, and in company with Harry Drake, London heavyweight, on the road for a long walk over the rugged hills that surround the Missouri beauty spot. Drake and some heavies from Kansas City form his squad of sparring partners.

Willard's mental attitude just now is the most interesting current study in pugilism. No youngster coming fast and dangerous for a title contest ever entered the training grind with more determination than 42-year-old Kansas farmer. Instead of the genial Jess, one finds a man of serious mein, who listens carefully to his advisers, with an avowed intention of forcing Jack Dempsey into the ring.

And unless all signs fail, Floyd Johnson will enter the ring on May 12, pitted against the athletic marvel of the age. For Willard, at 42, expects to be in the finest condition since he defeated Johnson.

GIBSON TO ASSIST MANAGER BUSH

By NEA Service
TAMPA, Fla., March 31.—George Gibson, former star catcher of the National League, who almost won a pennant for Pittsburgh in 1921, is now an American leaguer after years of service in the off organization.

Gibson was selected by President Griffith as assistant to Manager Tommie Bush, and the move is certain to greatly help the Nationals.

Bush, making his debut at a big league manager, is sure to profit by advice and suggestion from Gibson, who has had a long career as a player in addition to that of manager.

However, Gibson's greatest value to the Washington club will be in the development of its pitchers. For years Washington has suffered as the result of bad pitching. At present, pitcher looks up as Bush's greatest problem.

Gibson's working with a bunch of youngsters; some show much promise, others seem a bit removed from big league class, in need of more experience.

Weeding out a pitching staff is a problem these days, because the draft question makes it a very difficult matter to place youngsters who have promise. With existing conditions being the minors and majors, it is necessary to trust final judgment as to whether a pitcher should be retained or cut loose.

No doubt the judgement of Gibson will have much to do in solving the pitching problem. In his day there was no better pitcher than Gibson, and the Bush-Gibson combination seems destined to prosper.

FRED KING WINS BOWLING PRIZES

Fred King, the veteran bowler, who has figured prominently in the tournaments and prize contests for a number of years is still showing much class in toppling the Naples. This week he succeeded in winning the prize on four consecutive days in the special contests on the Crescent alleys. On Monday he won the money in the lead pin game with a total of 332. On Tuesday in the four-back-pin game he set up a three-string total of 123 and headed the prize. Wednesday the one-ball game found the veteran out in front with strings of 14, 15, and 17, for a total of 21. Thursday in the single game he rolled 14, 11, and 13, for a total of 332. King also took the individual prize on Thursday with his 110 mark. The prize contests for next week are as follows: Monday, three-string total, one-ball game; Wednesday, one-ball game; Thursday, four-back-pin game in three strings; Thursday, three-string total in lead pin game; Friday, most runs in baseball game.

JOSEPH SWICKARD, AN EXCELLENT CHARACTER ACTOR. REMEMBER HIM IN "THE FOUR HORSEMEN?"

NEW YORK, March 26.—A team of horses in snow up to their girths, lunging into their collars, calling upon every shrew, every energy within them to gain a few feet against a snow-drift.

They move forward in fits and jerks, a foot or two at a time. Here to me, is one of the most thrilling things I've seen on the screen. This was not part of a feature photoplay. It was in a news reel.

The sled in back of these horses contained United States mail. Here came man and beast carrying on simply in the name of service, service to mankind as it is exemplified by those who wear U. S. on their various uniforms.

This news movie was taken at Ashton, Idaho. When the sleds were worn out the mail was transferred to ton, Idaho. When the horses were not so thrilling, they seemed to have been staged for the cameraman.

PROTEST "MERIT SYSTEM"

FRAMINGHAM, March 31.—Three hundred employees of the Roxbury Carpet Co. in the Saxonville district, went on strike yesterday in protest against new method of payment, based on the "merit system," recently inaugurated by the company. The strikers included weavers, setters and finishers, and represented about half the employees.

The workers claimed that the new system would tend to lower wages as a whole. This, the company denied.

The system, it was explained by the company, proposed a bonus for better workmanship.

Such deformities as bow-legs and knock-knees are becoming much less frequent owing to the spread of knowledge of hygiene among parents.

PROTEST TO SEC. DAVIS HELD IN $10,000 EACH

Many Object to Visit of Ludwig C. A. K. Martens and Party to U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Reports that Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, former "soviet ambassador to the United States," his secretary, Gregory Weintraub, and Madame Kalinin, wife of the peasant president of the Russian soviet republic, are coming to the United States, have caused a deluge of protests to Secretary Davis. Only one have been issued to all immigration inspectors in charge for the three, and if application is made by them for entry to make a thorough investigation as to their purpose.

Madame Kalinin is said to be coming to America at the invitation of a children's relief society to make a two months' tour appealing for aid for famine sufferers. American consuls at Riga and Reval were instructed to visa her passport upon her assurance that her activities would be confined to Red Cross work.

RENEWING FLASH BOARDS AT THE DAM

Merrimack rivermen stoutly deny the current opinions freely expressed to the effect that spring is not yet here and now.

Five expert flash-board students are today proving to full galleries on the 18 more summer scenes that have been returned for 1923 duty on the Little parkway running along Varnum avenue that spring is actually here, no matter how much ice is coming down the river.

The river carpenters and iron workers are busy once more repairing the damage done to the iron supports and big boards that the river ice damaged or swept away several days ago. Today about 100 feet of the new "boarding" was put up by five men wearing hip boots and trotting through the fairly deep water that is pouring over the cap of the long dam just as if they were moving through pasture grasses and with no more effort.

The sight of the five workmen out there in mid-stream this morning with the foamy river coming down stream swiftly enough to knock them overboard if they didn't happen to know their business, was worth watching. The big irons that were bent more than double by the ice floes which destroyed many flashboards in the bargain and carried them off down the river, were returned to the upright position needed and new, shiny-looking pieces of lumber attached to the stumps in proper places.

From the Varnum avenue shore for a noble distance out in mid-stream, the workmen have carefully moved along through the rushing water that is about a foot and one-half deep over the dam rim now, and performed their work that, of course, is in some respects, hazardous. If you don't watch your next step forward and locate firm footing.

The speed with which the work of renewing the flashboards is done causes natural comment. The "big five" stars of the river operations never stop to light pipes or discuss high-water in the early spring of the year. There is no possibility of getting any news from home when they are out on the "middle stringer" adjusting iron rods and tacking on the big boards of 16 foot lengths. It is steady work, nervy work, fearfully tiresome work, almost continuously, but it is done in first-class fashion and the operations are always picture-perfect for the shore lookers-on, who hang none of the men will faint or stumble and take a tumble on those dangerous-looking scarred-up rocks far below.

There was little ice coming downstream this morning, although a small quantity still remains hanging on the middle section of the dam where it is all mixed up with broken flashboards, bent irons and a quantity of funny looking debris that came down the river from somewhere up north. This will soon be released and the work of continuing the line of flashboards made easier for the nervy river gang men with the new lumber and the high-water boats.

GERMANY MUST REFORM HER FINANCIAL POLICY

PARIS, March 30.—(By the Associated Press) The French government considers that the first thing Germany must do is to reform her financial policy and begin paying her obligations, and that there is nothing to be gained by endeavoring now to fix Germany's capacity for payment, it was said by a high official of the foreign office today.

This statement was made apropos of a memorandum submitted to Secretary Hughes on March 16 by the German embassy which is understood to have indicated approval of the American plan for an international commission to determine the facts as to Germany's financial position.

Premier Poincaré holds that it is possible to fix at present Germany's eventual capacity for payment; that the essential element for the settlement of the reparations issue is for the Germans to become convinced that they must pay and that it will develop from their future efforts how much they can pay.

The premier's statement to the chamber of deputies last night, that the French government was ready at any time to examine fairly and justify any serious proposition made officially and directly by Germans, created a most favorable impression. Reports of the conversations at Milan between Premier Mussolini of Italy and Foreign Minister Jasper of Belgium, which have reached the foreign office, are declared to indicate that the Italian government, as well as the Belgian, is in complete accord with France.

DELAY ACTION ON LEAVE FOR PRISONER

WORCESTER, March 30.—Warren A. Griswold of Clinton, senior member of the county commissioners, will advise that pending the return from North Carolina of Sheriff Albert F. Richardson, no action be taken in the case of Nathan L. Langworthy, prominent Brookline real estate dealer, who was granted leave of absence from the Worcester county house of correction to visit his aged mother in Weymouth, R. I., following serving a four month sentence imposed by the court.

LEWISTON, Me., March 30.—Notices were posted in the cotton mills here today announcing that, on April 30 a 12½ per cent increase in wages would go into effect. Mills affected were the Hill, Continental, Androscoggin and the Lewiston Bleachery and Dye Works.

TWO MONTREAL MEN CHARGED WITH SMUGGLING LIQUOR FROM SCOTLAND AT BOSTON

BOSTON, March 30.—Alexander Goldberg and David Perl, both of Montreal, were held in $10,000 bonds for a hearing April 6, when brought into the federal district court today on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act by smuggling liquor from Scotland. Mrs. Della Clark, also known as Mrs. Lena Costello, was held in $7500 on the same charge. The three were arrested in the woman's apartment in the Allston district last night and federal officers said they were involved in an extensive rum smuggling plot.

SACCO TO REMAIN IN HOSPITAL, SAYS JUDGE

WORCESTER, March 30.—Following a conference today Judge Webster Thayer announced that in his opinion Nicola Sacco should remain where he is in the Boston Psychopathic hospital until further investigation, thorough in every way, can be made of his condition.

The statement was made by Judge Thayer in spite of the request of District Attorney Williams of Norfolk county that the man be taken from the hospital and sent to jail, the 10 day period at first ordered for Sacco in the hospital expiring tomorrow.

Sacco, a convicted murderer, was sent to the hospital for observation and treatment after a month's long hunger strike.

Dr. C. MacFie Campbell, director of the hospital, read a report at the conference from which Judge Thayer interprets that the doctor holds Sacco is not and never has been insane, or suffering from paranoia, as was claimed by attorneys for the defense.

Judge Thayer wanted Dr. Bryan of the Worcester state hospital to pass upon the man, but as the doctor is now in Porto Rico, this is impossible. The judge is therefore content that the affair be left in the hands of Dr. Campbell to decide, the doctor calling in whatever counsel he may need to establish Sacco's condition. It is expected that Dr. Campbell will confer with Dr. Meyerson, who is employed by the defense.

In the report read by Dr. Campbell, it is to be inferred, according to Judge Thayer, that Sacco's condition was brought about by his long hunger strike in jail which apparently weakened him both physically and mentally.

The judge said that shortly after Sacco's admission to the hospital he was given barley gruel and orange juice, and that this seems to have been discovered as the cure for paranoia due to Sacco's rapid recovery towards normality.

Chief Hill has detailed a police guard for Judge Webster Thayer at the court house and for his home. The guard will be maintained 24 hours a day indefinitely and the men are instructed to watch all suspicious persons carefully.

After the conference, Judge Thayer said counsel had agreed to select a second expert to examine Sacco and when the name of this man is agreed on, he will name him to act with Dr. Campbell.

The hearing today was on petition by Sacco's counsel that he be permitted to remain in the hospital for two weeks longer.

WAGE INCREASES IN AMALGAMATION OF SHOE UNIONS AT LYNN

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 30.—Notices of wage increases on April 10 and affecting between 13,000 and 14,000 cotton mill operatives in Rhode Island were posted today. In most cases the amount of the increase is not stated, otherwise it is 12½ per cent. D. Goff & Sons of Pawtucket, a worsted plant, announced an increase of 12½ per cent. The Imperial Printing and Publishing Co., at Belmont announced an increase also. These two plants bring the total number of textile workers affected up to nearly 15,000. Other mills are expected to follow within a few days. There are approximately 35,000 cotton mill operatives in the state.

This morning notices were posted in the following mills: R. B. & R. Knight, employing 4000 hands; Lorraine Manufacturing Co., Pawtucket, 2300 hands; Crompton Co., at Crompton, 1300; Lonsdale Co., at Lonsdale, 2000; Hope Co., Hope, and Phoenix, 700; Interlaken mills at Harris and Arkwright, 700; Blackstone Manufacturing Co., North Smithfield, 500; Berkely Co., Berkely and Ashton, 500; Hanaford Manufacturing Co., Valley Falls, 375, and the Coventry Co., at Anthony, 500.

After the conference, Judge Thayer said counsel had agreed to select a second expert to examine Sacco and when the name of this man is agreed on, he will name him to act with Dr. Campbell.

The hearing today was on petition by Sacco's counsel that he be permitted to remain in the hospital for two weeks longer.

KING EVEN-STEVEN CAME OUT OF HIS PALACE IN HIS VELVET ROBES AND GOLD CROWN.

As Nancy and Nick walked through Apple-Pie Land they met all the mix-uppers who had been turned back into apple-pie benders. Everybody was as happy as could be and thanked the twins for being such a help.

King Even-Steven came out of his palace in his velvet robes and gold crown and said how much obliged he was for turning him back from a beggar into a king.

The rabbit called one-up-and-one-down was no longer a rabbit but the king's coat and the smell of hot apples was now coming out of the king's kitchen.

The automobile was back on its own wheels again and rolling 'round in dizzy circles for very joy. The ostrich was stretching his own wings which he had never hoped to see again. The wind-mill was no longer in a hole but whirling its wheel merrily on top of the ground. The clock's hands were back in place and it was striking a hundred times to show its delight.

Tommy's manners improved at once and he no longer slammed doors and

Jack Daw in Candy Land. Chapter 9

Now, who ever heard of a candy choo-choo train? Well, there is one, just the same. And it wasn't but a short time before Jack had a look at it. The chocolate peppermints marched right down to the railroad track which was made of long sticks of licorice candy. There they halted.

Cows ate grass in the fields white in the ocean.

The baker-man's fire melted all the ice and his bread started to bake as it should.

The cut-out lady turned into a lovely maiden and the chocolate-cutie dog with the pink-icing ears turned into a fine shepherd dog.

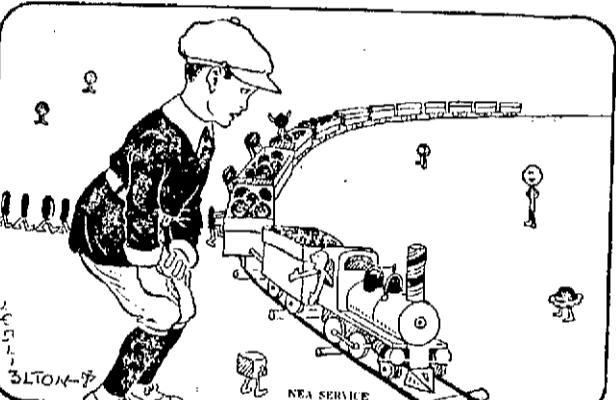

The bread-mill general turned back into a real soldier with a real gun and a real sword.

The five-and-ten-dollar store that said "nothing under," turned into a nice red five-and-ten-cent store that said "nothing over," and everything was in fine shape.

"Let's give three cheers for the twins," cried Tommy, and the last thing the twins heard as they departed were three loud burrals!

(Copyright, 1923, The Lowell Sun.)

On this winding track Jack saw the choo-choo train of Candy Land. The little engine had a peppermint-stick smoke stack, a chocolate-drop bell, and little round candies for wheels. Attached to it were the candy box cars. "All aboard for No-One-Knows-Where" shouted the little engineer.

And Jack noticed that this candy man, leaning far out of the engine-cab window, had a big, round head. "Hello, there," shouted Jack, "do you have to work very hard?" "I'll say I do," came the reply. "In fact I work all day long simply because I am a regular All-Day-Sucker." (Continued.)

IMPORTANT EMBARGOES THE LOWELL GUILD BALL

Chamber of Commerce Hears of B. & M. Embargo
Effective Tonight

Chamber of Commerce directors are to hold a business meeting next Monday noon, at 12 o'clock, April 1. Bulletins of the chamber, Vol. 4, No. 4, are being distributed to members and others today from headquarters. The bulletin mentions the date of Lowell's incorporation, April 1, 1836—just 87 years ago, on first page, good position.

Fifty-nine new members were obtained in the drive that has just been concluded by the directors. The work of adding to new names required three weeks of activities. Another drive is on the way.

President Edward Fisher has been authorized to appoint a luncheon committee to arrange luncheon programs for the future by obtaining speakers, dates, etc.

It was announced at headquarters this morning that an investigation is to be made as to the possibility of the elimination of certain switching charges on coal shipped to Lowell from Providence, which would mean a great saving to Lowell Industries. It is said that the reason why prices of anthracite coal have not dropped so far as in Boston, was the fact that freight charges are so much more than the local dealers cannot arrange to meet the Boston prices right away on any coal shipments.

Cigaret smoking by women is blamed for the greater increase in outbreaks of fire during the last two years in the United States.

ROTARIANS PLAN BIG RECEPTION TO HON. JAMES J. DAVIS

Secretary of Labor Will Give Public Address on Timely Subject in Memorial Auditorium Under Auspices of Lowell Rotary Club

Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of labor and the first member of the cabinet to be a president of the United States to be the guest of Lowell citizens in a reception when he came to this city next Monday afternoon to give a public address in Memorial Auditorium under the auspices of the Lowell Rotary club. The subject of his address will be "Labor Immigration and Nationalization."

Although the Rotarians are directly responsible for extending the invitation to Mr. Davis to come to Lowell and speak, the club members are remaining in the far background and have undertaken to make this event city-wide affair with all the people of the city and surrounding towns, too, on the monster reception committee, so to speak.

That the Davis visit will be a notable one from many viewpoints goes without saying. Immense interest has already been stimulated by the formal announcement of the Rotarians reception committee that the secretary of labor and gladly accepted an earnest invitation to visit Lowell and address the people of the city and county.

Secretary Davis will arrive in Lowell

HON. JAMES J. DAVIS

MAYOR DONOVAN VETOES ORDER FOR WIDENING HALL AND AIKEN STREETS

Declaring it is his opinion that the order to expend $30,000 for the widening of Hall and Aiken streets is not justified and is entirely out of proportion with the results sought to be secured, Mayor John J. Donovan today vetoed the order and returned it to the city council by filing it with the city clerk.

Although the mayor has returned the order without his signature his veto cannot be considered opposition to the elimination of the dangerous corner caused by the intersection of these two streets, for in the letter to the council filed with the unsigned order, His Honor says he will be inclined to look with favor upon the project when more feasible and economical has been devised. He recommends the appointment of a special committee to study the situation and report back to the mayor and council.

Herewith is the letter addressed to the council members giving the mayor's reasons for vetoing the order:

MAJOR NAMES COMMISSIONER

J. Omer Allard Appointed to Election Commission For 4-Year Term

Present Clerk of Board Has Served Continuously for Eleven Years

Mayor John J. Donovan today appointed J. Omer Allard a member of the election commission for a term of four years, beginning April 1 and expiring on that date in 1927.

Mr. Allard succeeds himself on the board and now is completing 16 years of continuous service, first being appointed a registrar of voters in 1907 by Mayor Frederick W. Farnham to fill out the unexpired term of Albert J. Blazier. For two years Mr. Allard served as chairman of the board of registrars and with the creation of the election commission by legislative act in 1921 he was elected clerk, which position he now occupies.

According to law, the mayor's appointment does not call for or require confirmation by the city council, or, in other words, is a direct appointment. Under the law, also, today was the last day on which the appointment could be made for it is specified that such appointments must be made within the months of February or March.

55 ARE FOUND GUILTY

Mayor, Judge and Sheriff Among Those Convicted of Conspiracy to Violate Law

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 31.—Fifty-five of 62 residents of Gary and Lake county, Indiana, tried on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, were found guilty by jury in United States district court here today.

Among the most prominent defendants found guilty were Roswell O. Johnson, mayor of Gary; William O. Olds, sheriff of Lake county; William M. Dunn, judge of the Gary city court, and Hazel Lucas, a Gary attorney.

The government charged that bootleggers, lawyers, the police force of Gary and county officials all worked together to the common end of obstructing enforcement of the prohibition laws. More than 200 witnesses testified in the trial, which began March 15, and a mass of evidence was introduced.

Seventy-five persons living in Gary and Lake county were indicted by a federal grand jury last December. Of this number five pleaded guilty before trial, the indictment of Stanley Kosowski was nolle prossed and seven other defendants have not been arrested.

Other prominent defendants found guilty are: Dwight M. Kinder, prosecuting attorney of Lake county; Lewis E. Barnes, former sheriff of Lake county; Clydo Hunter, former prosecutor of Lake county; John Bennett, treasurer of the republican city committee, Gary, and Charles L. Clemens, a justice of the peace.

FINANCE LAW NOW AT ISSUE

Court Decision on Taunton Case Defines Limits of Council's Budget Powers

Cannot of Its Own Volition Increase Budget Items Already Provided For

CAN INITIATE APPROPRIATIONS FOR OBJECTS NOT INCLUDED IN RECOMMENDATIONS

Since the question was raised a day or so ago relative to a section of the general laws covering budgets and municipal finance and its possible interpretation to mean that the city council might inaugurate and pass departmental appropriations on its own initiative by a two-thirds vote, thus giving to that body some of the power now delegated to the mayor, the possibilities of action under this section and the results, should it be put to a test, have caused no end of discussion at city hall.

The section under discussion reads as follows:

"In case of the failure of the mayor to transmit to the city council a written recommendation for an appropriation for any purpose deemed necessary by the council, after having been so requested by vote thereof, said council, after the expiration of seven

FIVE WORKMEN LOSE LIVES

Central Tower on New Hartford Brush Factory Collapsed During Test

50,000 Gallon Tank Gave Way and Workmen Were Crushed to Death

HARTFORD, Conn., March 31.—Five workmen were instantly killed and many others seriously hurt shortly after 11 o'clock today when the central tower of the new Windsor avenue factory of the Fuller Brush Co., collapsed. Later there was a report that the number of dead persons under the wreckage might bring the total dead to 15.

The weight of a 50,000 gallon water tank at the top of the tower which had been filled for a test was the apparent cause of the crash. The tank weighed about 160 tons.

Police reserves and several fire companies were sent to the scene of the accident to assist in removing the killed and injured, from the great heap of debris. One of the dead workmen was found to have been decapitated. The dead and injured were in the employ of the R. G. Bent Co., contractors building the new factory.

The masonry in the factory was com-

SIX GERMAN WORKERS KILLED

French Find That Germans Expecting Occupation Took Away Parts of Machinery

Mine Director Refused to Order Men to Return Parts—Arrest Followed

BERLIN, March 31 (by the Associated Press).—Six German workers at the Krupp plant in Essen have been killed and 20 injured in a conflict with the French military, says a Central News despatch from Essen today.

The French engineers found that the Germans in expectation of the occupation, had taken away parts of the plant machinery. The German mine director was ordered to have these returned. He declined any knowledge of the disappearance, insisting they must have been taken by the workers. The French engineers found that the Germans in expectation of the occupation, had taken away parts of the plant machinery. The German mine director was ordered to have these returned. He declined any knowledge of the disappearance, insisting they must have been taken by the workers.

Several thousand miners employed at this plant were on strike immediately after the news appeared.

The French announced today that Good Friday had been a red letter day in the Franco-Belgian coal and coke operations in the Ruhr region, as more than 4000 tons of coke and 5000 tons of coal had been sent out of the Ruhr yesterday by rail and water.

The trouble occurred through the French unexpectedly proceeding to occupy certain of the Krupp's motor works, whereupon the workers stopped the machinery and went outside to offer opposition to the French.

The officer in charge of the French tried to persuade the men to return to duty but they refused, and surrounded the troops, threatening them with attack unless they withdrew.

The officer pointed out that he must carry out his orders, but the workers were obstinate, declaring they would defend their plant.

Four machine guns then opened fire, adds the message, and six workers fell dead, while twenty were seriously wounded. The remainder scattered and the French then proceeded to occupy the works.

IMPORTANT EMBARGOES

Chamber of Commerce Hears of B. & M. Embargoes Effective Tonight

More embargoes on Boston & Maine railroad east-bound shipments of merchandise of many kinds, are coming effective tonight at midnight, according to word received this morning from N. Y. Central railroad officials by the Lowell chamber of commerce. Embargoes are declared on all eastbound freight over Boston & Maine railroad lines at Rotterdam Junction, N. Y., against freight or various descriptions, with the exception of the following:

Live stock, perishables, anthracite and bituminous coal, food for human consumption, food for live stock and railroad supplies. No other freight will be accepted east-bound from Rotterdam Junction until further notice without special permits, according to General Agent C. J. Cook of New York Central headquarters in Boston, who informed the local chamber of commerce this morning of the Boston & Maine's manifesto just received and read.

The new embargoes will shut off current shipments of new building materials to Lowell and vicinity for an indefinite period, as well as shipments of textile machinery and other articles necessary for the manufacturing and general mercantile activities or business of all kinds. Whether the embargoes will be long continued on many desired staples always in regular demand, is not known today.

Reports of coming new embargoes were current yesterday in Lowell and other cities, and Secretary-General George F. Wells at once wired General Agent Cook of the New York Central lines' Boston office for information on the subject.

STATE POLICE AND YEGGMAN IN GUN BATTLE AT SOUTHBORO

SOUTHBORO, March 31—This town was the scene at 2:30 this morning of a running gun battle between an unknown yeggman and three members of the state police patrol from Framingham headquarters in which the yeggman was killed. Due to a series of break-ins in the Southboro Drug Store during the past few weeks, a member of the patrol was stationed for night duty in the store.

ELECTION COMMISSIONERS SAY SALARY MUST BE FIXED AT $2000 PER YEAR

The board of election commissioners, now serving in dual capacity as members of this board and the listing board as well, claim they are entitled to a salary of $2000 per year and retroactive to March 21, the day on which the Lowell listing bill was signed by Governor Cox and became law.

The commissioners admit the language is somewhat confusing, but hold that the intent of the legislators was it should be $2000 per year.

That section of the law which deals with salaries of members of the listing board says in its ambiguity:

BUY LAND IN FLETCHER AND ROCK STREETS

The last parcel of real estate owned by the trustees of Franklin College in this city, which was bequeathed to the school by the late Captain Wentworth, was sold this morning for $10,000. The land is in Rock and Fletcher streets, and is transferred to Michael A. and Nicholas A. Hines. The land has an area of 22,000 square feet and the sale price was in the vicinity of $5000. The purchasers are planning to get a large garage on their newly acquired land.

The Looker-on in Lowell

Loaded down with valuable merchandise manufactured in Lowell on a special rush order from a foreign country, a truck became disabled recently between Lowell and Boston, presumably on account of the rough going. After necessary repairs had been made the truck rattled into Boston, only to find that the boat to which the merchandise had been consigned had steamed on its way.

Inasmuch as the consignee was anxious about quick delivery the next best thing to do was to ship the goods by express. This was done. The express bill amounted to approximately $3,000.

Biggest Week in Express Since 1920

Charles F. Langley, local agent for the American Railway Express Company, says that the week ending Mar. 10 had the largest total for inward and outward express shipments of any since the boom of November, 1920.

There has been a steady increase in express shipments, inward and outward, for several months past. On Friday, March 9, several two-horse wagons, loaded sky-high, carried merchandise to local stores. Local shoe concerns are daily shipping out general loads.

Generally, express shipments are a good barometer of local business conditions.

Parking Space Over Concord River

Down-town parking space for automobiles which would incidentally be ideal in connection with the Auditorium, could be created, according to the plan of a local man, by bridging over the Concord river on either side of East Merrimack street. The proposition would be for the city to construct such a bridge and make a nominal charge for parking.

On first consideration this seems very desirable, but what about the cost, not only of construction, but of maintenance and repairs? Also, would the law allow it? Furthermore, wouldn't the odors from the river collect under such a bridge, and become stronger than if diffused through the open air?

Fighting Germans Now Working Here

There are many instances in this country—many right here in Lowell—in which Germans who fought the allies are working side by side with Americans who shot at them from trenches in France. They have the same stories to tell of how the American shells whistled over their heads, how the "whizz-bangs" made their hair stand on end and so on. Former enemies, these Germans and Americans, talk over the war as though they were discussing a snow-ball fight. After all, even though the Germans did lose the war, one must admire their courage in marching so freely among former enemies, whether Belgian, French or Americans.

Advertising As An Uplifting Force

N. W. Ayer & Son, one of the biggest advertising agencies of the country, reports the following from one of its clients: "The best thing about our advertising is that it gives us something to live up to. It has made us work harder than we intended. Even the boys in the plant are keener since we are advertising their workmanship for the whole world to see."

Local manufacturers of nationally distributed products who conduct national advertising campaigns, seem to be more progressive than those who don't—at least there seems to be more of a progressive, enthusiastic spirit about them.

And as for retailers—if they don't live up to their advertising they soon are punished by decreasing business. Good advertising will create prestige, poor advertising will detract. Advertisers are, therefore, careful not to set up standards which they cannot live up to. Every precaution is taken by The Sun to insure its readers that advertisers who use its columns can back up their advertising.

Telephone Users Unobservant

How many of us have telephones and yet never noticed on the front cover of the telephone book this statement: "The state department of public utilities recommends that five minutes should be the limit of use of a party line station because others may wish to use the line, and that immediate right of way should be given for emergency calls. The company asks that patrons in fairness to others observe this recommendation."

This statement states most of us in the eye every day and yet Manager Leathers of the local telephone exchange has opened a campaign to carry out the five-minute rule. When the rule was mentioned most of us said "never heard of it!" Perhaps it ought to be in red ink, or perhaps conversations ought to be measured as has already been proposed.

Income Taxes Here and Elsewhere

Some of us may grumble about the taxes we must pay to the government in this country, but taxes in some foreign countries would stagger us. A married man supporting children on an income of $5000 pays a $65 tax in the United States, but would have to pay $96 in France, $156 in Canada.

DEATH TOLL NOW EIGHT

W. Z. Siebert Dies as Result of Injuries Received in Train Wreck Yesterday

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The death of W. Z. Siebert of Cincinnati, a student locomotive fireman, today increased the death toll in the wreck of the Southwestern Limited yesterday, to eight.

Three men, all aboard the train, the speed of which was estimated at 70 miles an hour and a woman and her two small children, sole passengers of an automobile which the locomotive struck at a grade crossing, were killed instantly.

Robert Henderson, a negro, who was riding "bulldog baggage," died in a hospital yesterday.

Eleven injured at hospitals today were reported on the road to recovery.

Railroad officials have not determined whether the train buckled after sudden application of the airbrakes, or if some part of the demolished automobile got under the "pony wheels" of the locomotive, causing it and six of the seven passenger cars to leave the rails.

CITIZENS' MILITARY TRAINING CAMP

Application blanks and circular information for the Middlesex County campaign for the 1923 citizens' military training camp, to be held at Camp Devens, August 1 to 31, for all young men between the ages of 17 and 24 years, are now available and may be obtained from George O. Robertson, 82 Prescott street. Students accepted for the coast artillery branch will go to Devens and remain four days while being equipped and receiving preliminary instructions. They will then be transferred by motor trucks to Boston and embark for Fort Strong, Boston harbor, where they will remain for three weeks undergoing instructions in the services they have selected. Then they will be returned to Camp Devens to take their places in the graduation ceremonies on the final day. The return trip will include a bike and a night spent in the open with a morning breakfast to be prepared by the men.

OPEN MEETING FOR MEN AND WOMEN

An open meeting for men and women will be held next Tuesday evening in Grafton hall, Merrimack street. The affair will be held under the auspices of Branch St. Aude, A.C.E., and a varied program will be given, while ice cream and cake will be served.

There will also be addresses by Representative Henry Achin and Almand Bellus. Entertainment numbers will be given by Arthur G. Leveille and R. E. Peplin, while J. A. Dandeneau will entertain with a slight of hand performance.

SUN BREVITIES

CHINESE WILL OBSERVE ADD 1000 NEW MEMBERS

"DECORATION DAY"

Kate Kutter Klotter, diamond pins, high collars, spats, textile school education and the scattering of Yankee Hugo may give your Lowell celestial something akin to American swag and style and a place in the memory and all that, but when the genuine Chinese memorial day rolls around—it will not Sunday—a little ahead of the American anniversary, when we folks honor our beloved dead with appropriate ceremonies, nearly every celestial in the U.S.A., straight foreign and near-American, observes the sacred day with solemn ceremonies that still carry with them numerous oriental customs that will never reach the discards.

And so on Sunday next, when the Chinese of Boston and vicinity observe their "Decoration Day" by placing flowers on graves of their countrymen in Mt. Hope cemetery, Lowell Chinese laundrymen, chop suey chancers, street students of the spats and kid gloves, schoolboys and necktie wearers, little scrubbers, waiters, money-changers, of the desk club and professional letter writers will go down to Boston and take part in annual ceremonies always suitable for their deep sincerity. There will be full mourning and straight devotional services in honor of the revered men of the orient, who have gone to the heaven of all good celestial in proper style.

Will Lowell be represented? Yes! The affable manager of the Yun Ho restaurant said so this morning. He cannot go, but his representatives will be present. Up the long lines of laundry districts, they told The Sun they would close the shops early tonight and be away to Boston.

All the Willa Wongs, the Henry Kings, the Wong Wings, Wah Lees and not forgetting Soo Hion Hian of Lee street—you must meet him some time!

to attend some of the Boston ceremonies. Lee C. Chin, the only Chinaman in Lowell with a middle letter who doesn't spell it out in full, could not be interviewed.

"The Only Laundry" sounds full American, but it contains China representatives and loyal observers of Memorial day, a laudable customs and data. Some of the boys in the Chin Lee restaurant will be on hand to participate in the sacred ceremonies at Mt. Hope, too, for more than one Chinese friend of the restaurant, the Lee under the sod at Mt. Hope, too, awaiting the perfors five years from now when the next shipment of sleeping celestial is returned to China homelands and interred once more and for the last time, to remain until judgment day in the land of the fathers.

The morning contingents from outside of Boston will represent Lowell, Worcester, Lawrence, Springfield, Brockton, Waltham and Cambridge. The flowers, accompanied by friends of the deceased, will leave Boston for Mt. Hope cemetery at noon on Sunday. Previous to the sacred journey there will be a general reunion in the homes and business places on Tyler and Franklin streets, Boston. Roast pigs and other provisions, cooked for the benefit of their dead, will be taken out and driven to automobiles. Joss offers will be made at the graves.

Contrary to former customs, food taken to the graves this year will not be left there, as it has always been quickly eaten by stray animals and even human beings took the food as soon as the demons disappeared. So now it is the custom to place the food on the celestial mounts and leave it there only while the visit of the departed lasts, then taking it away.

Paper money is to be left on the graves, also, as it means good luck to those who leave it there. But the kind to be deposited on the burial plots will not be legal tender.

Previous to the Sunday exercises, Lowell visitors to Boston's Chinatown will have a "musical Saturday night" for a little celebration in the shape of a Chinese good time, is always permissible before the Chinese Memorial day. The social events are really conducted in anticipation of the sorrowful tasks to come.

SARAH BERNHARDT

In reply to several inquiries and to settle a controversy, The Sun can positively state that Sarah Bernhardt never played in Lowell. Mr. B. Russell says the Lowell theatre were not big enough to attract Bernhardt and her expensive company.

will be connected in no way with the Haverhill company.

The Ostensons are not in any way selecting Lowell to overcome labor troubles, but come here, it was stated, because this is today one of the best new departure fields in New England and also because the Burgess-Land building facilities afford a splendid place in which to locate and develop.

The superintendent of the new concern, which is to be called "The Lowell Shoe Company," is a Lowell man, Alfred Clement, one of the best known shoe manufacturing experts in this territory. Foreman Estes, also of Lowell, will have charge of the new stitching room and Foreman E. S. Tolman of Swampscott. Mr. Hastings was graduated from Harvard in 1917 and served overseas during the war with the Third Coast Artillery.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Hylan of Ness street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Leslie Hylan to Mr. Abner H. Hastings of Swampscott. Mr. Hastings was graduated from Harvard in 1917 and served overseas during the war with the Third Coast Artillery.

officer and then rushed out when the officer dropped.

Officer Hackett called headquarters and in a few minutes Sergeant O'Connor and Patrolman Squires arrived in an automobile. They picked up the man's trail in the light snow, and following it over the golf links, came upon the man seated on a stone wall beyond the rural cemetery near Flanders road. When ordered to stand up, the man fired at the police. He was shot in the right side by Officer Hackett, who had a riot gun, and in his gun hand by Officer Squires. With his right hand useless, the bandit shifted his gun to the left and continued to fire. He was shot in the breast by Sergeant O'Connor. The man was picked up and a run made for the office of Dr. Roland H. Newton in Westboro, but he died on the way. The body was taken to a local undertaker's and the district attorney's office notified. An inquest will be held this afternoon.

The lieutenant of the police patrol says that he does not believe the man a local party but that he came in on one of the numerous freight trains passing through town. He is described as more than six feet tall, about 35 years of age, light complexion, weighing about 185 pounds, and shabbily dressed.

EXERCISES AT AUDITORIUM

Tomorrow afternoon at the Memorial Auditorium approximately 1000 new members are to be initiated into the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Lowell Aerie, 233. This number constitutes the largest class ever taken into a New England Aerie and in itself is direct proof of the energy of the older members of the order in Lowell, who for the past months have worked tirelessly in an effort to make this event the most notable in the fraternal history of the city.

The class is known as the John M. Hogan class in honor of the present secretary of Lowell Aerie, who has given more than 20 years of faithful service to his order.

The formal exercises of the day will begin with a parade which will include in its roster many of the leading men of the order from all parts of the country, visiting aeries, bands, candidates and members. The parade will move at 12:45 o'clock from the junction of Market and Palmer streets and will cover Central, Middlesex, Thorndike, Dutton, Merrimack and East Merrimack streets in its march to the Auditorium.

The principal speaker at the exercises of initiation will be Judge Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City and other speakers will include Conrad H. Mann, also of Kansas City, past grand worthy president of the national order, and Grand Trustee Thomas B. Murphy of Boston. The actual work of initiation will be conducted by the Western Aerie degree team.

The parade roster follows:

Platoon of Police
Platoon of Firemen

Mitchell Again Questioned in Connection with Keenan Case

Asst. Dist. Atty. Pecora Begins Re-examination of All Persons Concerned in the Still Unsolved Murder of New York Model—Brother of Slain Girl Admits Demanding Job in Department of Justice

NEW YORK, March 31.—John Kearns, wealthy son-in-law of E. St. John, of Philadelphia, who was for nine days known only as "the mysterious Mr. Marshall," again will be questioned by Asst. Dist. Atty. Pecora today in his re-examination of all persons concerned in the still unsolved murder of Dorothy Keenan.

The wealthy Philadelphia man was scheduled to meet Mr. Pecora this afternoon. It was said his personal attorney, John H. Jackson, who was known as "Mr. Wilson," secretary to Mr. Marshall, before the authorities made public the names of the two, also would be re-questioned.

For the first time since the district attorney's investigation began a stenographic report of all questions and answers was made at yesterday's investigation at which Mr. Pecora concerned himself chiefly with cross-questioning members of the slain model's family.

sand acres of land were purchased and in July, 1913, Mooseheart was dedicated. Since that time Mooseheart has welcomed to its hospitality and care dependent sons and daughters of deceased members. Sometimes the boys and girls have been doubly orphaned, sometimes the mother is living with the tragedy which is inability to provide for her children. In many instances mothers, two, live at Mooseheart, thus avoiding that essential pain, separation from fatherless children.

It has been said that heart of Moose is boundless in loving sympathy and capacity for unselfish service and that, therefore, there is no limitation as to the number of children received into the Mooseheart family.

Inevitably the influences and precepts of that order reflect themselves in the administration of Mooseheart and the children and widows care for in that sub-division feel the power of the order as a moral agent and of lessons as divine as eternal truth. The ritualistic ceremony is one of the most beautiful existant and sectarianism is absolutely unknown in the order while freedom of speech and personal liberty are big points in the Moose creed.

Mooseheart's educational features are well known to be of a highly vocational and practical nature. Twenty-five or so of the most useful crafts in contemporary life are taught, including agriculture and there are now more than 700 children being cared for, trained and educated in one or more useful vocations. Religious training is not neglected and the value of honesty and good judgment as primary factors in an upright life are firmly inculcated.

A $24,000,000 Plant

The residential part of Mooseheart resembles a modern village of about 1000 inhabitants and consists of about 60 buildings of modern concrete and fireproof construction, with red tile roofs. There is a central heating and power plant, large modern print shop, a high school building, several industrial shops, a modern farm plant and many dormitories and residences.

Mooseheart today has over 700 orphans which it houses, clothes, feeds and trains. The average age of the children is 9 1/2 years. The average age of graduates is about 18. Some children are taken in their first year and some are even born at Mooseheart. The plant is worth $2,400,000. The improvements cost $600,000 annually. The maintenance, $100,000. The main-

Francis Keenan, 21, brother of the girl, took up a good deal of Mr. Pecora's time, after he had admitted that it was he who had telephoned Major Draper Daugherty, only son of the attorney general, demanding that he be given a job in the department of justice. He denied, Mr. Pecora said, that he had threatened Major Daugherty with exposure of his admitted friendship with the Keenan girl in the event the job was not provided.

All members of the Keenan family, including the mother, particularly denied having known Mr. Mitchell under any other name than "John Marshall."

Although Mr. Pecora reported that progress had been made in the investigation, it was known that the police still were pursuing their search for the murderers, on the robbery theory, while the district attorney's office continued to incline to the blackmail theory.

Keenan cost the $600,000 annually, but the work is steadily growing.

A Native of Wales

Secretary Davis is a native of Wales, having been born at Tredegar, Oct. 27, 1873. His parents and their six children emigrated from their homeland in 1853 and settled in Pittsburgh, Pa. There at the age of 11, young Davis began working in the iron and steel works at Sharon, Pa. In 1882 he returned to Pittsburgh, where he was employed as a puddler in the iron works. In 1893, he moved to Elwood, Ind., and there worked in the steel and tin-plate mills.

His first public position was that of city clerk in Elwood, Ind., in which capacity he served from 1898 to 1902. In the fall of 1902 he was elected recorder of Madison county, Ind., serving as such until 1906.

He first became affiliated with the Order of Moose at Crawfordsville, Ind., on Oct. 27, 1906, and became its 24th member in good standing in the order which had been organized in Louisville, Ky., in 1888. From 1907 to the present time he has been director-general of the order. As chairman of the Moose war relief commission, he visited American, French, British, Belgian and Italian fronts during the war. In December, 1918, he returned to Europe and visited all of the battlefields of France, Belgium and Coblenz, Germany.

Upon his Accession to the presidency, President Harding selected him for secretary of labor, as one especially fitted for the responsibilities of that important cabinet position.

Blaze of Suspicious Origin in East Side Tenement, New York, Early Today

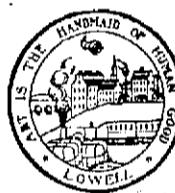

Total of Nine Persons Have Lost Their Lives in Fires There This Week

CALL BOMB STORY "BUNK"

Report That Ex-Evangelist Could Solve Wall St. Explosion Not Believed

Chief Burns Comments on Report of Confession Made by Wilson at Los Angeles

NEW YORK, March 31.—The report from Los Angeles last night that Herbert Wilson, a former evangelist convicted of murder and charged with robbery had told the police he could solve the Wall street bomb explosion mystery today was received differently in different quarters.

"Bunk," pronounced Chief William J. Burns, of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, when the report was shown to him at Miami, Fla.

"Interesting, if true," commented officials of the Burns detective agency.

"Bunk," echoed William J. Flynn, former chief of the department of justice, when the despatches were read to him here.

The report of Wilson's confession emanated with the Los Angeles Times, which published a story today quoting Wilson as having confessed to county of a man arrested in Warsaw as that he made the bomb himself and sold it to a man who has been charged with the guilty knowledge of the crime, but never prosecuted.

He said he recognized the photograph of a man arrested in Warsaw as that of Max Wolfe, an individual to whom he said he sold the bomb. There was a man arrested in Warsaw and charged with setting off the bomb, but according to Allen O. Myers, the agent who made the arrest, he was never known as Max Wolfe. The man he trailed was Wolfe Lindenfeld, alias William Lind, who was quoted once as having confessed to setting off the bomb but who later insisted that he made no such admission and was innocent.

It was pointed out that if he does it need not necessarily follow that appointments to the Sacred College will be made.

COLIN O'MORE PLEASED

Celebrated Tenor Considers
Lowell Auditorium Ideal
Place for Concert

Colin O'More, who is to appear at the Memorial Auditorium on next Thursday night, under the auspices of Timothy J. Linnane, is delighted at the opportunity to again sing here. Upon his first visit to Lowell on Sunday, Feb. 11, he was greeted by a good sized audience and the warmth of the reception made a deep impression upon the celebrated tenor.

O'More has appeared in Carnegie Hall, New York; Symphony Hall, Boston; Albee Theatre, Providence, and many other places throughout the east, but he regards the Lowell Memorial Auditorium as the ideal place for a concert. The beautiful and spacious building, with its wonderful acoustic properties, gives the singer the proper setting to appear at his best.

The largest crowd that ever heard O'More, however, appeared in Carnegie Hall, New York, but judging from the demand being made for his concert here on next Thursday night, a new record is to be established.

Of his last appearance in New York, the musical critic of the New York Telegraph said: "Colin O'More last evening sang to one of the largest and most demonstrative audiences that has greeted a singer in Carnegie Hall in many years."

Mr. O'More has arranged a special program for his coming concert, which will embrace many of the favorites of his previous visit, intermingled with a number of new classics.

Those desiring to secure seats and thereby be assured of hearing the talented artist may get them in advance at Stichner's music store, Merrimack street.

BRIDAL SHOWER

A bridal shower was given for Miss Mildred Isherwood on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison E. Byam in Porter street. Miss Isherwood's son is to wed Miss Barbara of Arnold D. Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Howard of Barlow avenue and connected with the Massachusetts state highway commission. Luncheon was served by the hostess and many of the young people present entertained informally during a program of music.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Lloyd Ibach's Entertainers Will Provide Symphonies Joss as Headliner of Week's Big Bill—Easter Sunday Tomorrow being Easter, more than the ordinary attention will be paid to furnishing a bright bill for the B. F. Keith theatre, and it will be headed by Seed and Austin, who are very funny men. Rae Eleanor Ball and her brother, Joseph, will give their splendid renditions on the violin and cello, and Frank Hartley & Co. will sing songs and comedy numbers. There will be Hartley & Patterson, Ethel Hopkins, Steel & Souza, and Tom Worth, the latter two newcomers for the day.

National vaudeville artists' week will open on Monday, and with it will come the best over the country which will fairly stimulate with brilliancy. Lowell is going to get one big bill, and it will be headed by Lloyd Ibach's entertainers, a group of melody-makers who have been called, and justly, America's jazz symphony orchestra. The melodies these men extract are simply wonderful. With Allen Quirk as a saxophone virtuoso there will be a hue and cry set up to hear them, seldom if ever equalled in this city. The act is a high grade one, which has just completed a tour of the north cities. The Baltimore Sun considered this organization positively the best which ever played in that city, in the medium of vaudeville. And Baltimore gets all of the big city stars.

Harry Norwood and Alpha Hall will present "It May Have Happened in the Night," which is made up of several different things. Music has a prominent place in the act, as well as comedy and singing. The twain are comedians who gained their polish and proficiency in the legitimate drama, and who later branched out into musical comedy.

With Zula and Gladys Randolph in "Grooming the Groom" have hit on an idea which is always successful. It is that of the countryman who is put through his paces by one who is sophisticated. But it isn't all on one side, by any means.

Three Whirlwinds are acrobatic roller skaters, who do some amazing stunts, and Ed & Ida Tindell are makers of snappy acrobatic twists and turns. It is a joy bill from the start to the finish.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"The Bird of Paradise" will be the attraction offered by Al Luttringer's players at the Opera House next week. Richard Walton Tully's greatest hit of the past ten years will be the popular big city attraction on and off for the past ten years will be the attraction offered by Al Luttringer's stock players Easter week at the opera house. As many who have seen "The Bird of Paradise" in a show with the theme of vital interest, the baring of a woman's soul, a native woman whose entire thoughts are for the love of her American husband. Her greatest trouble by death in the turbulent mire of Hawaii. In the great Hawaiian violence, is a climax to a great human drama, which finally takes the audiences by storm and there is no question but that Richard Walton Tully's power of expressing human emotions is portrayed to its greatest extent in this, his greatest play.

Set in nature's own paradise, the Hawaiian Islands, the play is both extremely beautiful and picturesque and a decidedly different type of play than the theatre-goers of today have been accustomed to having presented on the stage of their favorite theatre, the Opera House. However, the great artist with his staff of able assistants has in preparation some of the most striking sets ever seen in this city. Scenes of the beach at Waikiki, scenes of native Hawaiian feast and wonderfully realistic scenes of the eruption of Pele are all included in this exceptional show.

The cast of "The Bird of Paradise" will include the full score of Al Luttringer's stock players together with the especially engaged Hawaiian girls, who are the real "Hawaiian girls" with the original show, who at first toured the country and are accredited with being the ones that really originated Hawaiian music in this country. They are exceptional musicians and have made a great number of records for the Victor company. They will be seen in the play in special dances and songs.

THE EASTER FESTIVAL

Tomorrow, Easter day, commemorates the resurrection of Christ from the dead. It is the crowning event in the establishment of Christ's kingdom on earth. He said: "Destroy this temple and I will build it up in three days." In that the Savior proved His divine power as He had done on many occasions during His stay on earth by the miracles He worked.

At this time the Christian world rejoices in the spiritual triumph of redemption consummated in the Risen Christ. Well may the churches of Christendom ring with alleluias. The promised Redeemer has come and has commissioned His disciples to "Go teach all nations" and to continue spreading His gospel to the end of time.

The lessons of Easter are the most joyous of the Christian year and now after the penitential season of Lent, after the severity of the winter, not only the hearts of men but all Nature seems to take on a spirit of rerudescence and rejuvenation. It is in this sense that the observance of Easter may be made a source of spiritual uplift and inspiration for those who can contemplate its meaning in time and eternity and who through the power of faith can realize its full import and effect in the work of man's redemption. So far has the influence of this festival swayed Christian peoples, that if the believer has but the slightest trace of practical religion left, he shows it by attendance at church on Easter Sunday. It is estimated that fully 65,000,000 people will attend church in the United States tomorrow. That will leave 45,000,000 unaccounted for. The latter fail to see or to accept the gospel of the Risen Christ, and hence they fail to benefit by the spiritual inspiration that comes to devout worshippers in the celebration of an event that may be regarded as the capstone of the arch on which rests practically all the truths and teachings of Christianity.

HEAR SECRETARY DAVIS

The Rotary club will have as a speaker at the Auditorium next Monday afternoon Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of the department of labor at Washington. The Rotarians, realizing that Mr. Davis is a great friend of labor, have endeavored to give the working people of Lowell an opportunity to hear him by delaying his address until 5.15 o'clock. That will give the mill operatives and others an opportunity to go there before going to their homes. They need not hesitate to go in their working clothes as Mr. Davis has quite as much respect for the man whose face is grimed with the dust of the machine shop or the mill as for the one cleanly shaven and dressed in the height of fashion.

It is to be hoped that the laboring people of this city will make an effort to be present and hear the important message that Mr. Davis is sure to deliver. He is reported to be a good speaker and he is an authority on all the industrial issues before the country today. He has already proposed a plan for maintaining industrial peace, which if given a fair trial would go far to secure that very desirable end.

The meeting will be free to the public and every facility will be offered to those who attend to get the best seats available. But for the fact that Mr. Davis will have to take the 7.30 o'clock train from Boston for Washington, his lecture would be delivered in the evening. The Rotarians have done the best they could to give the working people of Lowell an opportunity to hear Mr. Davis and it is hoped that the hall will be crowded when he comes upon the platform to deliver his address. He will not have time to speak more than half an hour so that it is desirable that all who wish to hear him will reach the Auditorium at 5.15 if possible.

RADIO

Patents on 200 radio devices, invented by John Hays Hammond, Jr., are sold to the Radio Corporation and the big telephone company.

One of them is said to be device that eliminates static interference and the "butting in" of Morse code on wireless telephonic concerts. This latter will disappoint satan.

When 200 new radio patents change hands, you wonder how long it will be until present radio devices will be obsolete. All will change. Once the wireless bug used coherers and de-coherers. How many radio fans now know what the words even mean?

Radio concerts, broadcast free, are cutting down the sale of sheet music and phonograph records. This reduces the revenue formerly enjoyed by music composers. So they organize, threaten to sue broadcasting stations that use their copyrighted music without paying for it.

THE PACIFIC MILLS' MOVE

A good many citizens down in Lawrence seem to think that the Pacific mills, by transferring 32,000 spindles from its Lawrence plant to the south, is starting not only to reduce its Lawrence output, but ultimately to remove the remainder of the plant's spindles.

For the reason that some of the industries use the trucks almost entirely for short-haul freighting. For example, several of the local industries have trucks which conduct practically all of their freight business between this city and Boston. It would be a serious inconvenience to such industries if they were obliged to suspend their truck freight system. It seems that the only lasting solution of this problem must be the construction of roads and highways that will bear the heaviest freight traffic. That will call for large expenditure and this may explain why we hear so much talk of an increased tax upon trucks and a tax of two cents a gallon upon gasoline.

Families are justified in making complaints regarding such cases where nuisances actually exist, the selection report, and the annual report and recommendations put it clearly in the following words:

"Remember that our main revenue from taxation comes from real estate owners, not from pigs. We shall follow up this pig nuisance during the coming year more than ever before. Don't hesitate to make a complaint if there is a nuisance near your home."

These that will cause hardships to the American people if the price gamblers are not called to a halt forthwith. The Iowa statesman declared that the cost of an extra session of congress to provide laws which will protect the public, would be nothing compared to the $110,000,000 taken from the sugar consumers with every cent increase in price. He now urges the United States chamber of commerce to take cognizance of the grave "national issue."

It certainly seems as if the "big business interests" of the country at large ought to be powerful enough to stop such unconscionable manipulations in the prices of food products. The present high price of sugar, with a wealth of reserve supplies on hand, emphasizes that need.

FEDERAL RESERVE RUMORS

Members of the Federal Reserve board, meeting in conjunction with the governors of the twelve reserve banks in semi-annual conference in Washington, took steps to curb the flood of rumors concerning possible changes in the board's policies and reports of contemplated increases in rediscount rates by the banks.

Scores of telegraphic inquiries concerning the widely circulated reports are being answered by the stereotyped statement that "all rumors with respect to its intentions or actions in regard to changes in policies are without foundation in fact at the present time."

Inquirers are invited to supply the board with information regarding the sources of the rumors, adding in substance that it will not waste its time in denying "idle rumors."

Though the board's reply to the queries is not very emphatic and makes no actual denial that possible future changes in rediscount rates may be contemplated, it is safe to say that there will be nothing radical done if the Federal Reserve executives do anything at all toward undertaking a new policy in respect to the present credit situation.

LODGE MAY OBJECT

It is already predicted by those who should know that Senator Lodge will ultimately vote to reject President Harding's proposition for American participation in the stabilization of Europe. The Boston Transcript, which is a fervent supporter of Mr. Lodge, is hostile to President Harding's recommendation with regard to the international court. Several other important newspapers in this state, following the cue of the Transcript, are openly antagonistic to the president's plan for giving official recognition to the tribunal. To these may be added the New York Herald and other republican journals of considerable influence. The republican senate never seemed to accept the president's leadership with much confidence. Lodge, Moses and Bradsen have been rather restive under the leadership of their former associate whom they regarded as one of the senatorial mediocrities.

PIGS IS PIGS

The selection of Dracut, who also act as members of the town board of health, are determined to eliminate certain alleged "pig nuisances," reported in certain sections of the town of the Indian trails. The annual report of the selection, just issued, states that the health officials have investigated complaints of various natures during the past season and have corrected them so far as they were able. They also call the townsmen's attention once more, however, to the nuisance of keeping pigs in thickly settled community sections of Dracut.

Families are justified in making complaints regarding such cases where nuisances actually exist, the selection report, and the annual report and recommendations put it clearly in the following words:

"Remember that our main revenue from taxation comes from real estate owners, not from pigs. We shall follow up this pig nuisance during the coming year more than ever before. Don't hesitate to make a complaint if there is a nuisance near your home."

QUESTION OF LAW

One of the councilors, it seems, has dug up a provision of the general laws under which he thinks the council will be able to pass supplementary budgets over the mayor's head. We really did not suppose that any member of the council was so stubbornly opposed to the mayor's policy of retrenchment. If by a two-thirds vote in such a case the council can pass supplementary budgets not favored by the mayor, the purpose of the charter would thus be defeated.

We do not believe that any legal loophole can be found to justify a policy contrary to the plain provisions of the city charter.

BULLFIGHT

Facute Benavente, not a cigar, but the name of the Spanish author who has written and staged 80 plays, visits America. He says our blood-and-thunder movies and stage melodramas are "intellectual bullfights."

Think it over. Maybe we have been too harsh with the cruel sport of the Spaniards. Mental cruelty is as evil as the real thing.

Treatments of influenza meningitis by two women scientists in New York, who used a new serum taken from an immunized horse into which there had been injected Pfeiffer bacilli, have resulted in absolute cures in cases that had been given up as hopeless. Where the new serum was not used, deaths resulted. If the discovery on the part of one Dr. Josephine Neal and Dr. Olga Pavitsky is really something that will stand investigation, and prove by further experimentation, the names of the two women scientists will be honored in the years to come.

GAMBLING IN SUGAR

Representative Cole of Iowa is in favor of calling an extra session of congress to enact laws to prevent gambling in sugar and other staple products. His aim appears to be to get after and punish the sugar profiteers. But if the sugar gamblers are to be brought to bat and repudiated in the daily-life commodities and necessities? Is sugar the only world toad staple in which profiteers gamble and wield the sceptre of tyrannical power over the erthing majority helpless to save themselves?

Representative Cole believes the situation on sugar and other staple products to be actually critical and containing many unforeseen possibilities.

Commissioner Williams of the Massachusetts state department of public works has issued an order limiting the gross weight of trucks on certain roads to seven and a half tons. This action was taken only after serious damage to certain roads was reported. If thus early the trucks have damaged the roads, what would be the result after the front in out of the ground? It is admitted that to drive trucks that will cause hardships to the American people if the price gamblers are not called to a halt forthwith. The Iowa statesman declared that the cost of an extra session of congress to provide laws which will protect the public, would be nothing compared to the $110,000,000 taken from the sugar consumers with every cent increase in price. He now urges the United States chamber of commerce to take cognizance of the grave "national issue."

The Biennial Sale

Though she had more money than she knew how to spend, she was not averse to anything in the nature of a bargain. "These gloves are very cheap, madam," said the saleswoman, "much below the last price. We are only able to do this because this is our biennial clearance sale." "I have two pairs of them," she said grandly; "and, by the way, how often do you hold your biennial sale, as you call it?"

Permanent Blush

Grandma having arrived for her annual visit to the city, had Bluebell, the dog, at the feet of the family, on the carpet. The woman had been about to send the dog away, but the dog would not go, so she said, "I'll take care of him." "I'll take care of him," she said, "but I don't want him to go with me." "I'll take care of him," she said again, "but I don't want him to go with me." "I'll take care of him," she said again, "but I don't want him to go with me."

He Meant All Right

Father was telling of a quarrel between two men in which he had interfered. One had swung a shovel about, shouting "I'll knock your brains out!" "I was at this moment," he explained proudly, "that I stepped between them." The wife had been listening, round-eyed with excitement, very angry at the idea of anyone daring to threaten his daddy. "Now he burst out: 'He couldn't knock my brains out of you, could he, father?'

Read the Book, Anyway

A certain whist player imagined himself an authority on the game. After hours of play with his friends with verbal comments, suggestions and opinions upon the methods of play, he at last wrote and published a book on the game. One copy was sent to a champion whist player for his opinion. In about a week the following letter arrived: "My Dear Sir—In favor of the—inst. accompanied by a check which was duly received. I have read it very carefully. It seems a very good game, but I don't think it's as good as whist. Sincerely yours."

The Secretary's Advice

The club bore rushed angrily into the secretary's office, sputtering and giving vent to heated and incoherent exclamations. "You bet," grossly he shouted, "when I had calmed down sufficiently, "How so?" asked the secretary, who had heard such complaints before. "Just now, when I told that young Dawson droning, 'Look out, I'll give you $100 if you'll resign from the club,' all the members heard him. Now, what ought I to do about it?" Without the least hesitation came the reply from the secretary: "Hold on for a better offer."

Life's Mirror

At the annual church bazaar one young lady was making a considerable amount of money as a palmer. To one of her girl clients she said: "I see by your hand you are going to be married." "How wonderful!" answered the astonished girl. "And," continued the girl, "see, you are engaged to a man named Gilmore." "How perfectly amazing!" gasped the girl. "How lovely the lines on my hand cannot tell you the name—" "Who said anything about lines?" interrupted the palmer scornfully. "You are wearing the engagement ring which I returned to Mr. Gilmore three weeks ago."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The Lowell Fish and Game association, ever actively looking out for this vicinity in matters of clean sportsmanship of the outdoor variety, has started a campaign for new members that is going along in promising fashion under the energetic direction of Secretary Willis S. Holt. Invitations are now going out for the tenth anniversary celebration in Odd Fellows hall, next Tuesday evening, April 3. This will be the biggest rally of the present season, and there will be interesting matters "on the table" for discussion, after the annual election of officers. I am informed there will be no annual banquet served, but cigars are on the way for free distribution to all comers Tuesday evening.

Merrimack st. from city hall to the Lowell Corporation hospital, was reported "all cleaned up" Friday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock, when the last load of thick ice and snow blocks was removed in dump carts and taken away by the city workmen. Thus ends one of the long, hard jobs conducted upon one of our busiest thoroughfares, and it has required many days of labor and the removal of many hundred cart loads of snow and ice to make the thoroughfare passably presentable for all kinds of traffic. There was a small pile of congested debris left on the hospital side of the street after the city workmen were away, but two boys armed with steel-pointed shovels, cut into it Friday morning and threw it over the pavements and car tracks in copious huge lumps. It wasn't long before the winter "leavings" were crushed and scattered, however, for every passing automobile spelled the bunched formation and ground the pieces of ice into small pieces.

I am informed that the water conditions at Commonwealth falls just above Nashua are similar to those reported right in this vicinity above and below the big dam. Residents of the Nashua territory feared freshets, but are getting the supplies of their lives by the low depth of the Merrimack there are. Some say that the river is lowering at this season presenting a dry year all the way through. Ward personally believes the Merrimack will be low all the way through.

Ward, with all that savings left in the bank, is to be a good boy.

This Season's Hat Must Have an Individual Touch of Your Own The First Easter

One need say very little about spring millinery. It speaks so eloquently for itself. "Buy me" is the message of nearly every little bonnet. Big hats, little hats, plain ones and fancy—they're all represented in the Easter display. There's only one requirement—this season's hat must be becoming and must have some individual little touch that makes it your hat. For street wear you probably want little brim and little trimming. Your picture hat may go as far as it likes with both.

These fashions from Paris give an idea of what will be seen this spring.

Final Arguments in Foster Case Tuesday

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 31.—Final arguments in the trial of William Z. Foster of Chicago, charged with violating Michigan's law against criminal syndicalism, will be made Tuesday. Meanwhile, the court was in recess. Both state and defense closed their cases late yesterday. Foster, testifying in his own defense, yesterday, when asked about "Syndicalism," a book he wrote twelve years ago, said that after the book was withdrawn from circulation, within a few months after its first appearance, he publicly retracted the resort to force and incendiarism advocated while he was a syndicalist. Foster denied that he advocated violence in the last steel strike.

Free-for-All Fighting in Paris City Hall

PARIS, March 31.—Scenes of violence inside and outside the city hall last evening marked the debate on the demands of the municipal workers for higher wages. Seven communist councilors tried to capture the voting urns when a question of closure was put to a vote. Ten minutes of free-for-all fighting ensued but eventually a compromise was effected whereby the wages of the lower classifications will be increased at a cost of 12,000,000 francs to the taxpayers. Outside the hall, several thousand workers held a demonstration.

2000 Children Aid in Fighting Fire

TIFFLES, March 31.—Two thousand Armenian children, organized as a bucket brigade, assisted a battalion of Bolshevik soldiers in saving the orphanage at Alexandropol from destruction by fire last midnight. The children worked under the direction of Nurse Janet McKay of New Haven, Conn.

Allies Take Over Another Ruhr Mine

ESSEN, March 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The government-owned coal mines at Einschleppen in the Gelsenkirchen district, were occupied today by French engineers, escorted by a detachment of troops with tanks. This is the ninth mine in the Ruhr taken over by the French and Belgians. Thirty thousand tons of coke and great piles of coal were seized.

Harding to Consider Sugar Price Situation

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 31.—The sugar price situation seemed likely to engage the attention of President Harding during a portion of his last day in St. Augustine. C. H. Huston, who until about two weeks ago was assistant secretary of commerce and who is here en route to Miami, expects to see the president today.

Fire at Bolling Field

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The photographic laboratory, a hangar and two airplanes were destroyed in a fire today at Bolling Field. Damage to war contract records stored in the burned structure has not been ascertained. None of the personnel was seriously injured.

WILL HOLD CHILD WELFARE MEETING

A child welfare meeting under the auspices of the Chas. W. Morey parent-teacher association will be held at the Chas. W. Morey school Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, April 3. Several other branches of this association with other guests have been specially invited to attend this meeting.

A feature of this meeting will be the first showing in Lowell of the mothercraft film which was made recently in one of the best California studios, and which has been highly approved by educators and physicians. The film is the work of Miss May Bliss Dickinson, who made the trip to California for this express purpose and to speak before the American public health association. Older Lowell theatre-goers will note with interest that one of the participants in the mothercraft film was William H. Crane, the veteran actor, who out of his love for children gladly accepted an invitation to take part.

The film, which was recently released, had a pre-showing at the last convention in New York of the American public health association. It has been exhibited this winter in February and March in Florida to which state Mrs. Dickinson was invited by the Florida

LARGE CROWD AT ODD FELLOWS' CARNIVAL

Last night was the third night of the carnival being put on at 1000 F. hall, Bridge street, by the Centralville Odd Fellows and the Centralville Rebekahs.

A large crowd turned out for the carnival and the booths had a busy evening and an entertainment given by the Pawtucketville Dramatic club of the Pawtucket Congregational church entitled, "None So Dear as Those Who Won't Bear," received cheers and applause. Mrs. Estabrook was in charge of this production and those taking part were as follows: Miss Marion Garnett, Mrs. Charles Estabrook, Mrs. L. A. Ayer and Arthur Lyons. Another feature of the evening's entertainment was a comedy sketch by Edward and Simon Wells.

The big feature of this evening's program will be a dare-devil slide from the top of the I.O.O.F. building on a wire to a pole on Second street. STATE LEGISLATORS ARE INVITED

Representatives to the state legislature from Lowell and members of the city council committee on finance have been invited to meet in conference with the school committee next Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing a proposition to build a new grammar school in the South End district. EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., March 31.—Jess Willard's training camp has become a hive of activity, with the former champ preparing for his first real bout in nearly three years. He is hardening his muscles with the hope of stretching Floyd Johnson on the canvas in Madison Square Garden when they meet May 12.

Each day finds big Jess an early and fast company with Harry Drake, London, his right-hand man, out on the road for a long walk over the rugged hills that surround the Missouri health resort.

Drake and some heavies from Kansas form his squad of sparring partners.

And unless all signs fail, Floyd Johnson will enter the ring on May 12 pitted against the athletic marvel of the age. For Willard, at 42, expects to be in the finest condition since he defeated Johnson.

GIBSON TO ASSIST MANAGER BUSH

NEA Service
TAMPA, Fla., March 31.—George Gibson, former star catcher of the National team, who almost won a pennant for Pittsburgh in 1921, is now an American leaguer after years of service in the older organization.

Gibson was signed by President Griffith as assistant to Manager Donie Bush, and the move is certain to greatly help the Nationals.

The King of the diamond, as big league manager, is sure to profit by advice and suggestion from Gibson, who has had a long career as player in addition to that of manager.

However, Gibson's greatest value to the Washington club will be in the development of its pitchers. For years Washington has suffered as the result of mediocre pitching. At present, pitching looks up as Bush's greatest problem.

Gibson's working with a bunch of veterans, some show much promise, others seem a little removed from big league class. In need of more experience.

Weeding out a pitching staff is a problem these days, because the draft makes it a very difficult matter to keep the younger ones who have promise. With existing conditions between the minors and majors, it is necessary to pass final judgment as to whether a pitcher should be retained or cut loose.

No doubt the judgement of Gibson will have much to do in solving the pitching problem. In his day there was no better receiver than Gibson, and the Bush-Gibson combination seems destined to prosper.

FRED KING WINS BOWLING PRIZES

Fred King, the veteran bowler, who has figured prominently in local tournaments and prize competitions for a number of years, is still showing much class in toppling the maples. The prize money in cash in winning the prize on four consecutive days in special contests on the Crescent alleys. On Monday he won the money in the head pin game with a three-string total of 155. On Tuesday in the four-head pin game he set up a three-string total of 123 and finished the day as Wednesday the one-head game found the veteran out in front with strings of 74, 69 and 67, for a total of 210. Thursday in three-string games he rolled 140, 111 and 131 for a total of 382. King also took the individual prize on each day with his mark. The prize contests for next week are as follows: Monday, three-string total, one-head game; Tuesday, most boxes in three strings; Wednesday, three string total in head pin game; Friday, most runs in baseball game.

WHEAT SIGNS 1923 CONTRACT

Veteran Outfielder of Brooklyn Robins Comes to Terms and Rejoins Team

O'Connell, $75,000 Player to Share Giants' Centerfield
With Bill Cunningham

NEW YORK, March 31.—Zack Wheat, veteran outfielder, captain of the Brooklyn Robins, has signed his contract for 1923 and today rejoined his men in New Orleans. Wheat was reported to have come to terms in Clearwater, Fla., yesterday after he had been flatly refused a $500 raise over last season by President Ebbets of the Robins. His last year's pay was reported to have been $8500. Conditions of the 1923 contract were not revealed, but it was reported that Zack's teammates had pledged themselves to make up the $500 sum of contention to their old captain. Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 player purchased from San Francisco, will share the New York Giants' centerfield with Bill Cunningham. Manager McGraw announced before the team left San Antonio for its northern trip, O'Connell, a southpaw batter, will be used against right-handed pitchers. Cunningham will face the southpaws.

Big Test for Recruit Pitchers

CINCINNATI, March 31.—Two of the Cincinnati Reds' young pitchers are to be given their first big test when they go in against the Philadelphia Athletics at Montgomery, Ala., dispute stated. Manager Moran announced he would start with Roberts and finish with Carl Schenck.

Correspondents accompanying the Reds made no mention of a report in circulation in Cincinnati, indicating that the Rube Benton controversy had been resolved by the National League, as is said that pitcher's contract was officially promulgated by President Heydler.

The rumor persisted in Cincinnati, however, objection to Benton it was said, would be based upon the contention that his presence in the National League was "undesirable" and would result in the protesting of all teams which he pitched against.

And unless all signs fail, Floyd Johnson will enter the ring on May 12 pitted against the athletic marvel of the age. For Willard, at 42, expects to be in the finest condition since he defeated Johnson.

Athletes To Play Cards

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—The Philadelphia Americans and St. Louis Nationals left Valdosta, Ga., today, for Thomasville, where they were scheduled to play an exhibition game. Rain prevented playing of two other games scheduled at Valdosta and Waycross. On Sunday, the Athletics return to their training camp at Montgomery, Ala., for a game with the Cincinnati Nationals.

The Phillips left Leesburg, Fla., last night for Tampa, where they will meet the Washington Americans today. The Phillips plan to break camp at Leesburg Monday. They are scheduled for a number of games on the homeward journey. Stops made at Charleston, S. C., Wilson, N. C., and Portsmouth, Va.

Who is Joe Tinker? Do I hear you say?

Surely every baseball fan remembers the old double-play combination—Tinker to Evers to Chance. Well, that's the Tinker.

No doubt many of the old-timers, fans of the younger generation, who got a glimpse of Joe when he was one of the red stars of the national league, have often wondered what had become of him.

Have no worry about Joe Tinker.

He is one of the boys the home-towners prefer to as a highly respected, very popular and extremely well-to-do citizen.

The year Tinker dropped out of major league baseball he decided to spend the winter in Florida and hit Orlando as the place. The arrival of so many a personage in the baseball world in Orlando for the winter was soon spread over town by the village gossip.

The Braves planned to journey from their camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., today to Lakewood, to battle with the Cleveland Indians. Battling practice occupied much of their time yesterday.

JOSEPH SWICKARD, AN EXCELLENT CHARACTER ACTOR. REMEMBER HIM IN "THE FOUR HORSEMEN?"

NEW YORK, March 26.—A team of horses in snow up to their girths, lunging into their collars, calling upon every shrew, every energy within them to gain a few feet against a snow-drift.

They move forward in fits and jerks, a foot or two at a time. Here to me, is one of the most thrilling things I've seen on the screen. This was not part of a feature photoplay. It was in a news reel.

The sled in back of those horses contained United States mail. Here were man and beast carrying on singly in the name of service, service to mankind as it is exemplified by those who wear U. S. on their various uniforms.

This news movie was taken at Ashton, Idaho. When the horses were worn out the mail was transferred to ton, Idaho. When the horses were not so thrilling. They seemed to have been staged for the cameraman.

If you haven't seen Mac Murray in "Jazzmania" and intend to see it, go before dog days. The dangers of hydrophobia will be less. Here is a young lady who knows how to dance, this Mac Murray. But after that is said you have said about all there is to say to her talents as a screen actress.

Edmund Goulding made the excellent adaptation of "Talkie David" and wrote the original of "Pury," a later vehicle, for Barthelmes. Those were two jobs of which any man might be proud. However, Goulding must have been under the weather when he concocted "Jazzmania." Its humor is always forced and stilted and its serious sequences are as acutely artificial and strained as the plot of a musical comedy. Froth is something Mr. Goulding should eschew. It makes him gouty.

SUMMARY OF EARLY PREDICTED EASTER COLD MORNING A. P. NEWS WEATHER ON WAY

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The predicted Easter cold weather blight was sweeping steadily eastward and southward today. By tonight, according to the official forecast, the "chill" high pressure area originating somewhere in the Arctic regions, will have overspread practically the entire eastern half of the country.

By tomorrow morning, the weather man says, the chilling fingers of the Arctic visitor will have spread "frost" as far south as Northern Florida, with a sharply draining scale of temperatures northward.

To the dubious Easter bonnet, however, he does hold out the faint hope of a "slowly" rising temperature Sunday afternoon, in addition to the promise that the day will be fair.

PROTEST "MERIT SYSTEM"

FRAMINGHAM, March 31.—Three hundred employees of the Roxbury Carpet Co., in the Saxonville district, went on strike yesterday in protest against a new method of payment, based on the "merit system," recently inaugurated by the company. The strikers included weavers, setters and finishers, and represented about half the employees.

The workers claimed that the new system would tend to lower wages as a whole. This, the company denied. Father confessor to king and queen of Spain, recently named by king to be bishop subject to vatican's approval, is found dead in Madrid with throat cut.

General De Goutte orders striking Ruhr trainmen to go back to their jobs or face expulsion from their homes.

Soviet authorities at Moscow indicate they will ignore worldwide appeals to spare life of Roman Catholic Vicar General Butchavitch.

Such deformities as bow-legs and knock-knees are becoming much less frequent owing to the spread of knowledge of hygiene among parents.

France, Italy and Belgium are united in their policy toward Germany. Brussels announcement says.

France's net gain in population for 1922 is 46,434 less than in 1921. Paris statistics show.

MUST RETURN TO WORK OR BE EXPELLED

DUESSELDORF, March 31. (By the Associated Press)—Gen. De Goutte's proclamation that all striking German railway workers in the occupied zone must either return to work or be expelled, finds the allies in possession of all Ruhr and Rhine land lines except those in the British area.

Enforcement of the order, it seems, will offset the transportation officials something of a problem, for approximately half a million persons, including the families of the men, may be affected. It is expected that the process of expulsion will take several weeks and special transportation to the frontier must be provided.

The ten billion marks and four hundred thousand French francs which French customs officers seized in an automobile at Dachau yesterday will be used toward defraying the expenses of French troops on the left bank of the Rhine. The money was being shipped to Wiesbaden by the Frankfurt branch of the Reichsbank.

THREE WOMEN SEEK D. A. R. PRESIDENCY

WASHINGTON, March 31.—In the annual congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution to be held April 16 to 21 in connection with the triennial election of officers with a three-cornered contest on for the office of president-general.

The candidates now in the field to succeed Mrs. George Maynard Minor, whose term expires this year by constitutional limitation, include three prominent members: Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, of Pennsylvania; Mrs. G. Wallace Hanger, of the district of Columbia, and Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York, honorary president-general of the D. A. R.

Tickets have been announced partially by the candidates, and there is every indication of an exciting contest between the 2,000 delegates assembled in Memorial Continental Hall. Officers will serve for three years with the exception of the vice presidents-general, whose terms are only for two years.

The presidents-general of the D. A. R. have included notable American women. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison was the first, accepting the office while first lady of the land. Mrs. Adal Stevenson and Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, wives of vice presidents of the United States, also have served in this office.

Two picturesque figures will be missing from the convention this year—Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, known as the "Little Mother" of the D. A. R., who died last fall, and Mrs. John A. Logan, widow of the Civil War general, whose death occurred last month.

THE FOUNDING OF LOWELL SIMS ATTACKS CURLEY IN CATHOLIC CHURCHES

Tomorrow Marks City's 87th Anniversary—No Public Observance Planned

Tomorrow, April 1, marks the 87th anniversary of the founding of Lowell as a city, ten years and one month after its founding as a town. Lowell was named after Francis Calot Lowell, one of the early mill men in Massachusetts, and originally included what was known as East Chelmsford as its boundary.

Tomorrow, April 1, — "We... or not Lowell should become a city was put up to vote at the town meeting, the result was 361 in favor of such action and 328 against it. As soon as Lowell received her charter she held her first election as a city and elected Eliza Bartlett as the first mayor. Since that time Lowell has undergone many changes in size and portions of the surrounding towns have been annexed. Lowell was taken from Tewksbury, Centralville, and Middlesex Villages from Dracut and parts of Dracut itself were annexed to make Lowell as big as it is today. The population has risen from a few thousand to about 100,000 and has increased by many enormous mills that make Lowell one of the greatest cotton manufacturing cities in the world.

There will be no public celebration of the anniversary of the city's founding, but exercises will be held in the high school on Monday, and in the other schools a week from Monday, commemorative of the day.

OPEN HEARINGS IN WARD PETERS MURDER CASE

ALBANY, N. Y., March 31.—Open hearings in the Ward-Peters murder case will begin here Monday under the personal direction of State Attorney General Sherman.

"I am prompted to make this investigation in the open by the widespread public interest evinced in it," Mr. Sherman said. "There is something in this case of public interest that is tantamount to a demand from the people that the case be laid open."

Every phase of the case will be looked into and all evidence gathered by the Westchester county authorities, the time the body of Charles Peters, founder of Maywood, Mass., was found until the indictment against Walter S. Ward was dismissed, will be produced. Ward admitted he killed Peters but claimed that he did so to protect himself in a blackmail plot.

The attorney general said today that he intended for the time being to give his personal attention to the inquiry. He will be assisted by Deputies Wither W. Chamber and Bernard Cohen, who have done the preliminary work.

BROADCAST APPEAL FOR STRIKE-BREAKERS

NORWICH, England, March 31.—Land owners in Norfolk whose workers are on strike, made use of wireless to broadcast an appeal for strike-breakers. Many volunteers have come to the help of the farmers, including women who did agricultural work during the war.

Bad feeling between strikers and workers has developed. Strikers are alleged to have turned loose the livestock of their erstwhile employers and have blown horn and rattled cans to frighten teams with which loyal employers were plowing.

Many clergymen are supporting the strike, encouraging the laborers to hold out in their demands.

PORT WORKERS GRANTED WAGE INCREASE

NEW YORK, Mar. 31—Wage increase agreements with the steaming owners' committee, affecting workers at Portland, Me., Boston, New York, Baltimore, Newport News and Norfolk, were announced today by Joseph P. Ryan, vice president of the International Longshoremen's association.

In the ports mentioned, excepting those of Hampton Roads, longshoremen and cargo rearmen will receive, effective tomorrow, 75 cents instead of 60 cents for day work, and $1.07 instead of $1 for overtime. In Newport News and Norfolk, the new rates are 70 and 75 cents instead of 60 and 60 cents.

SPRINGFIELD PAPERS TO INCREASE PRICE

SPRINGFIELD, March 31.—The Springfield Union, the Evening Union, the Springfield Republican and the Springfield Daily News will announce today an increase in price from one to two cents a copy, effective Monday.

The Union and the Republican reduced their price from two cents to one cent a year ago. The Springfield Daily News has always sold for one cent, except its mid-week issue which sold for two cents.

The announcement of the Springfield Union comes in part:

"For the benefit of other newspapers that may have been interested in the excursion of the Springfield press into the field of one cent journalism it is deemed permissible to say that the venture offers no attraction. From the viewpoint of the newspaper it is economically wrong; from the viewpoint of the reader, it goes against his sense of the fitness of things. He does not want to pay more for anything than it is worth, but he does not want to pay less than a fair price, and one cent is not a fair price for a newspaper that strives to meet the needs of an intelligent public."

McADOO ALSO FAVORS THOMPSON

DENVER, Colo., March 31.—William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, and Woodrow Wilson, former president of the United States, came nearer accord on the Colorado United States senatorship today when McAdoo telegraphed Governor Sweet that both Huston Thompson, federal trade commissioner, endorsed by the ex-president, and Morrison Shafroth, endorsed by McAdoo, are "admirably qualified" for the place. Mr. McAdoo wired the governor that Shafroth had telegraphed him that Thompson also was a candidate and asked McAdoo to endorse Thompson also.

Also Assails Ku Klux Klan, Farm Blocs and Sinn Feiners

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Speaking before the English-speaking union here yesterday, Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, retired, U.S.N., launched a broadside against the Ku Klux Klan, political farm blocs, Sinn Feiners and Mayor M. Curley of Boston.

The Ku Klux Klan is the most notorious, most cowardly blow," Admiral Sims said. "It assumes the right to judge, try and execute. Its methods enable bands of criminals to commit murder with comparative impunity behind masks."

The military history of the United States was characterized as "disgraceful" and "appalling" by Rear-Admiral Sims in an address before the Commonwealth club.

Unnecessary sacrifices of blood and treasure as the result of unpreparedness form a record of which America cannot be proud, he said.

Admiral Sims said there was great need for submarines and airplanes as a first line of national defense, and urged establishment of naval bases in mid-Pacific, especially at Guam.

He criticized the navy department severely for its conduct in the last war, asserting that attempts were made to handle from Washington what should have been directed from nearer the scene of hostilities.

NOT VERY GOOD WEATHER FOR SPRING FINERY

Easter Sunday weather will be fair, but decidedly chilly.

The old March 10, though hitting the long, long trail tonight, is still king of the weather manager today. It would have been remarkable for the fellow with the leaning eyebrows to let an Australian cold-storage "spring lamb" put anything across on him.

Twenty-four hours was about the average lowest registration on Lowell glasses at 6 a.m.

Lowell citizens were not surprised when they peered out of upper windows and saw the ground all whitened up again just like a December morning or mornings. No one complained.

That is out of style. Simply a season for the rubbers again, a few extra throat tablets for the office hours, mufflers and mittens and away to the Saturday before Easter window and buoy to be alive.

Fair, but pretty cold, is the weather promised for Easter Sunday by the official forecasters this morning. Not below freezing, but just cold enough to call for overcoats and gloves to the Easter parade.

It is rumored that several large chain store organizations, including the S. S. Kresge Co. are planning to open on the seven stores of the F. E. Nelson Co., Inc., located in Lowell and other New England cities, at the proposed date in Boston next month of $250,000 worth of stock in the Nelson stores into which L. R. Steel Co., Inc. of Buffalo had invested in payment.

A Buffalo dispatch states that John G. Nelson, president, treasurer and general manager of the F. E. Nelson Co., Inc., has been in that city for several days discussing the Nelson situation with the equity receivers of the Steel chain store enterprises. The receivers authorized an immediate survey of the Nelson stores by David M. Lewis of New York.

The Sun was informed today that Mr. Lewis came to Lowell Thursday of this week on his tour of the Nelson stores that have locations not only in this city, but in Concord, N. H., Manchester, N. H., Nashua, Haverhill, Cambridge and Lawrence. The purpose of the visit was to determine whether or not the receivers would be justified in applying to Federal Judge John R. Hazel for authority to issue receivers' certificates to cover the final payment on the Nelson stores.

While in Lowell, Mr. Lewis made no statement as to the results of his survey or future plans.

CLARENCE PELL ELIMINATED

LONDON, March 31—(By the Associated Press)—Clarence C. Pell of New York was eliminated in the semi-finals of the amateur rackets championship today, after a hard match by E. E. Baedlein, of England, former champion. The score was 12-15, 15-8, 17-14, 15-9.

TELEPHONE ALARM

Fire in the steam pipe covering at the plant of the Lowell Waste Co. in Goshen street was responsible for telephone alarm at 12:36 o'clock this morning. The services of the firemen were not required, however, as a natural sprinkler worked successfully. There was no damage.

CITY OF LOWELL

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

In the City of Lowell, the amount of the sum of sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) for the purpose of the construction of bridges of stone or concrete or of iron superstructure, in the City of Lowell, and to provide the amount necessary to meet said appropriation a sum not exceeding $60,000, to be expended over the greater interest manifested in the idea up to date. He has surrounded himself with a group of assistants, some of whom have served before the footlights in the past, and there is every reason to expect that out of the committee's efforts will come a sound production.

The committee in charge of the post-Lenten dance on Easter Monday evening has announced plans for its big and programmatic to entertain the members and their lady friends are complete.

There seems to be a whirl of activity at the clubhouse. The boating league is furnishing much recreation and the numerous other interests in the camp under grand Kiteflet fort seem to be giving evidence of real progress.

Impressive Easter Services and Special Music—Good Friday Observances

Good Friday services in the Catholic churches of the city yesterday consisted of mass of the pre-sacrificed in the morning, stations of the cross in the afternoon, and the chanting of the eucharist and sermon on the Passion of Our Lord in the evening.

This morning, masses were celebrated in all the churches, preceded by the consecration of the new fire, benediction of the paschal candle and the recitations of the prophecies and litany of the saints.

Tomorrow, Easter Sunday, will mark the termination of the Lenten season. This great festival will be observed with impressive and beautiful services and special musical programs.

The services will be arrayed in all the splendor suggestive of the joy of the church on this most glorious feast day of her terrestrial year. Sermons on the Resurrection will be preached in the Virginian chemical issues forecasted, professedly down nearly three thousand. Adams, Elmer, and Adams Southwestern preferred also were heavy. The closing was irregular.

Sales approximated 310,000 shares.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 31.—Stock prices moved in rather an aimless fashion in today's market. With most of the large operators away for Easter, the price movements were largely in the hands of floor traders. Heaviness of Pacific Oil and several of the independent steel shares was counterbalanced by strength in the food group and a few minor specialties. Willys-Overland preferred was pushed up two points and Beechnut and Century Ribbon each advanced 2. Marland Oil also rose over two points to a new high for the year. Setting in the Virginian chemical issues forecasted, professedly down nearly three thousand. Adams, Elmer, and Adams Southwestern preferred also were heavy. The closing was irregular.

Sales approximated 310,000 shares.

Adventures of The Twins

EVERYTHING SET RIGHT

KING EVEN-STEVEN CAME OUT OF HIS PALACE IN HIS VELVET ROBES AND GOLD CROWN.

As Nancy and Nick walked through Apple-Pie Land they met all the mix-uppers who had been turned back into apple-landers. Everybody was as happy as could be and thanked the twins for being such a help.

King Even-Steven came out of his palace in his velvet robes and gold crown and said how much obliged he was for turning him back from being into a king.

The rabbit called one-up-and-one-down was no longer a rabbit but the king's cook and the smell of hot apples was now coming out of the king's kitchen.

The automobile was back on its own wheels again and rolling round in dizzy circles for very joy. The outside was stretching its own wings which had never hoped to see again. The wind-mill was no longer in a hole but whirling its wheel merrily on top of the ground. The clock's hands were back in place and it was striking a hundred times to show its delight.

Tommy's manners improved at once and he no longer slammed doors and

Jack Daw in Candy Land. Chapter 9

Now, who ever heard of a candy choo-choo train? Well, there is one, just the same. And it wasn't but a short time before Jack had a look at it. The chocolate peppermints marched right down to the railroad track which was made of long sticks of licorice candy. There they balled.

On this winding track Jack saw the choo-choo train of Candy Land. The little engine had a peppermint-stick smoke stack, a chocolate-drop bell, and little round candies for wheels. Attached to it were the candy box cars. "All aboard for No-One-Knows-Where" shouted the little engineer.

And Jack noticed that this candy man, leaning far out of the engine-cab window, had a big, round head. "Hello, there," shouted Jack, "do you have to work very hard?" "I'll say I do," came the reply. "In fact I work all day long simply because I am a regular All-Day-Sneaker." (Continued.)

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE THE LOWELL GUILD BALL

Directors Will Hold Business Meeting Monday Noon
—Bulletins Distributed

Chamber of Commerce directors are to hold a business meeting next Monday noon, at 12 o'clock, April 1. Bulletins of the chamber, Vol. 4, No. 4, are being distributed to members and others today from headquarters. The bulletin mentions the date of Lowell's incorporation, April 1, 1836—just 87 years ago, on first page, good position.

Fifty-nine new members were obtained in the drive that has just been concluded by the directors. The work of hustling in new names requires three weeks' of activity.

Another drive is on the way. President Edward Fisher has been authorized to appoint a hundred committees to arrange luncheons, programs for the future by obtaining speakers, dates, etc.

It was announced at headquarters this morning that an investigation is to be made as to the possibility of the elimination of certain switching charges on coal shipped to Lowell from Providence, which would result in a great saving to Lowell Industries. It is said that the reason why pieces of anthracite coal have not dropped so far as in Boston, was the fact that freight charges are so much more that the local dealers cannot arrange to meet the Boston price right away on any coal shipments.

Cigaret smoking by women is blamed for the greater increase in outbreaks of fire during the last two years in the United States.
